DIVORCES GRANTED

At Session of the Court in This City Today

Three sessions of the superior court were held at the local courthouse in Gorham street this morning. Justices Fessenden and Irwin presided over sessions of the divorce court in which contested cases were heard, and Justice Morton occupied the bench in the civil court with juries.

Decree for Libellant

The contested divorce case of John F. Bolster of Cambridge against his wife, Edith J. Bolster, which was opened before Judge Irwin in the court with juries, second session, Friday was resumed at the opening of this morning's session.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolster had been living together at Cambridge until March, 1908, when Mr. Bolster found a letter, which he believed to be addressed to his wife. In consequence of the letter he and his brother went to Cornhill street in Boston, where they said they saw Mrs. Bolster meet a man. The two later visited a hotel restaurant, Chinese restaurant, and subsequently went to a business building in Cornhill street. The following day, it was testified, Bolster accused his wife of being untrue to him and left her.

At the conclusion of the case Judge Irwin granted a decree nisi to the libellant.

NEW CARDINALS

Were Elevated at the Consistory Held in Rome Today

ROME, Nov. 27.—Obedience to a summons from Pope Pius X, the cardinals in Rome assembled in secret consistory today, confirmed the papal nomination of 18 new members in the College of Cardinals, the supreme governing body of the Roman Catholic church.

Of these three honored three are citizens of the United States, Mr. John M. Farley, archbishop of New York; Mr. William H. O'Connell, archbishop of apostolic delegate at Washington.

Boston, and Mr. Dionello Falconio,

Thus with Cardinal Gibbons, America will have now for the first time a representation of four in the cardinalate which probably, as now constituted, will elect a successor to the reigning pontiff.

That this duty could not be delayed many years was an unwelcome thought that came on the present occasion to those who participated in the last previous consistory, four years ago.

Pope's Face Careworn

CATHOLIC NOTES

New Catholic Club at
No. Chelmsford

At high masses celebrated in St.

John's church, North Chelmsford, yesterday morning, the celebrant,

Rev. Fr. Doherty, took the opportunity to explain to the members of the congregation his object in forming the new Catholic club in the parish.

He said the new society had taken over the hall formerly occupied by the St. John's T. A. society and that now it was his ambition to put the hall in proper condition for the new society. Such a thing, he said, could not be done without support from the parishioners, who he hoped would co-operate with him. The club will prove a benefit to the parish and the old members are as interested in the society as the young ones. Fr. Doherty explained to the mothers the need of keeping the young men in the town so as to keep them removed from temptation. He said that in the new society, the Knights of the Sacred Heart, there were 30 young boys who would soon be

Gilmore's, Y. M. C. I., Wed. evening.

CHILD IS POISONED

Mother Wanted in Somerville Gave Herself Up to Local Police

Catherine Chamberlain, 25 years old, who has been separated from her husband, Charles Chamberlain, called at his lodgings at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sairals, 15 Stamford terrace, Somerville, at 7 o'clock last evening, took her 2½-year-old son, Charles E., out for a walk and returning half an hour later threw the child at the feet of Mrs. Sairals, saying: "Take him. I have no further use for him."

The child was screaming in agony, and it was evident at once to Mrs. Sairals that he was suffering from internal pain. Her suspicions were aroused by the presence of red marks around the child's lips, which apparently were marks of burns.

Mrs. Sairals sent her husband to summon Dr. Charles J. Walsh of Cambridge, who after a hasty examination of the child said he was suffering from carbolic acid poisoning. He gave the little one an emetic which caused the pain and took him out of danger.

The police were notified and an investigation brought out the fact that the mother of the child had been in the habit of frequent intervals of coming to Somerville from Lowell, where she lived and where she was employed in a mill. She came each time to see her child and with the knowledge and consent of Mr. Chamberlain, who is a freight brakeman employed on the Elizabeth division of the Boston & Maine railroad, took the boy out for a walk.

On many of her visits Mr. Chamberlain was away, as was the case last evening. He was in Deerfield when fo-ated last evening, having finished a trip from Boston.

Mrs. Sairals had not the slightest hesitation in giving the child into its mother's custody last evening when the mother called, as on previous occasions she returned him without harm.

Mrs. Chamberlain, according to story told the police last evening by Mrs. Sairals, returned at 7.30 holding the child in her arms. When she rang the bell she was admitted, as the boy was crying.

Mrs. Sairals at first imagined that his outcries were the result of some minor suffering and did not realize that something unusual had happened until the mother threw him bodily on the floor at Mrs. Sairals' feet.

The mother turned on her heel and ran out of the house. As soon as the Somerville police were informed they notified the Lowell police of the circumstances of the case and asked for the mother's arrest. They received word about 11 o'clock that the arrest had taken place and that the woman was held for the Somerville police on the charge of assault with intent to kill.

The husband and father was also found by telephone in Deerfield and apprised of the facts.

The opinion of Dr. Walsh, that the carbolic acid had been administered to the child, was confirmed later in the evening when a silver mug was found in a yard on Oxford street, Cambridge, near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sairals, which was found to contain traces of the acid.

Gives Herself Up

Mrs. Catherine Chamberlain, wanted in Somerville on a charge of attempt to poison her child, surrendered at the Lowell police station at 10.15 last night.

Mrs. Chamberlain appears to be slightly demented. She is of slight physique and is fairly well dressed. She has been placed in charge of the matron at the detention room in the police station, and when she reverts from her fright and her excitement an effort will be made to learn her whereabouts yesterday and the cause of the alleged attempt at poisoning.

Mrs. Chamberlain, after she surrendered herself at 10.15, remained in a hysterical condition for about an hour and was then given an opiate by City Physician Smith in a hyperdermic injection in her arm.

Mrs. Chamberlain acted all the time before she slept as if she was temporarily unbalanced.

In her valise was found a small bottle of carbolic acid bearing the label of a Somerville pharmacy. In the bag also were letters from her husband indicating that there had been separation.

She is 25 years old and her home for the past four weeks has been at 29 Grand street. She was married in this city about four years ago and is the mother of a boy 2½ years old. After the separation from her husband she secured a position in a woolen mill in North Chelmsford. On account of old friendship she was allowed to room at 29 Grand street by Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, owners of the house. She has two brothers living here.

A MONUMENT

TO THE LATE JUSTICE HARLAN MAY BE ELECTED

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Memorial services were held last night for the late Justice John M. Harlan in Quinn chapel, A. M. E., by the Afro-American citizens of Chicago. Several speakers eulogized Mr. Harlan, one of them referring to him as "the best friend the negro ever had on the supreme bench."

A movement for the purpose of raising a fund by subscription to erect a monument to the memory of Justice Harlan in appreciation of what he had done for the race, was discussed.

EXTRA DAY'S PAY

For Precinct Officers Will Amount to $1080

It looks as if the precinct officers would receive two days' pay for their work at the coming primaries. They will have to work 20 hours instead of 10 hours, as heretofore, and City Clerk Flynn says they are entitled to two days' pay, $10 instead of $5.

Mr. Flynn spoke with Alderman Gallagher and asked his opinion in the matter. Alderman Gallagher is chairman of the committee on appropriations, and he allowed that if the precinct officers worked two days instead of one day they were entitled to two days' pay. There are 27 precincts and eight men to a precinct. Each man receives $5, so that the pay of precinct officers in each and every precinct amounts to $1080. If they receive two days' pay the pay for precinct officers in each precinct will be $2160 and it will take an appropriation of $1080 to give the precinct officers an extra day's pay. The extra appropriation can be made after the primaries and before the city election. It is not necessary that it should be made before the primaries.

No Extra Help

Despite the fact that party lines, under the new charter, have been eliminated, the precinct officers who continued under the old charter will continue to do business at the old stand, so that the republicans and democrats will have four representatives each in every precinct. That does not mean, however, that it will be a contest of parties. The officers will have no party lines to look after and will do business in houses not divided against themselves. The number of precinct officers is regulated by statute law and no extra help is allowed. The ballots and other necessities will be distributed tomorrow forenoon. The ballot boxes will be sent out to the different precincts about 11 a. m., and the doors will open at 12 m. Women who can vote between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock are requested to do so. By so doing they will avoid the general rush and facilitate matters very much. They should bear in mind, too, that by so doing they will make it easier for the precinct officers.

Waiting for Check Lists

The board of registrars and its efficient corps of clerks have had a pretty busy time of it and now the board is waiting for the check lists. They worked until 12 o'clock Saturday night and all day yesterday. The printer who is printing the check lists had also to work until midnight Saturday and now the registrars are waiting for the corrected proof.

A VICTIM OF
SCROFULAHad Large Bunches
Under His Arms.At Times Unable to Work—
Many Medicines Failed.Hood's Sarsaparilla, the Great
Blood Purifier, Cured.

HARRINGTON, N. H.—"I had scrofula, causing large bunches under my arms, which sometimes broke open and discharged. At times I was unable to work; not only were the bunches and sores very painful and disagreeable, but my health was so run down that I had no strength.

"Many medicines failed to do me any good, and when a friend recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla I had made up my mind that nothing could cure me, and I should simply have to bear my affliction. But Hood's Sarsaparilla worked like a charm. It drove out the impurities or the germs, or whatever may be the cause of scrofula. The bunches disappeared, and when I had taken six bottles all signs of scrofula had vanished, and there is not even a pimple or blotch on my body.

"Of course I am glad to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to any sufferer from scrofula or impure blood, as it has absolutely proven to be in my case a wonderful purifying medicine."

Editha E. Locke.

The great mass of people, as they themselves say, "can not afford to be sick" if compelled to employ physicians and nurses. They are the millions of intelligent, prudent and economical men and women that have come to know the great usefulness of Hood's Sarsaparilla and other good proprietary medicines.

Hood's Sarsaparilla effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than twenty different ingredients. "There is no real substitute."

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today in the usual liquid form or in the chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

Brief services were held at the residence, 58 Dover street, and at 2:15 o'clock, the ceremony at the church was begun. Rev. E. Victor Higdon, pastor of the Elliot Congregational church, and Rev. Austin Rice of Wakefield officiating. Appropriate music was rendered by the Masonic quartet, comprising Edgar H. Baker, Arthur C. Munn, Charles H. Howard and Harry C. Needham.

At the close of the service opportunity was given to view the face of the departed for the last time. Burial was in the Lowell cemetery, only immediate relatives and friends attending the committal service at the grave.

The honorary bearers were: Supt. A. K. Whitcomb, of the school department; Cyrus W. Fish and Carl D. Bart of the Lowell High school; C. W. Morey of the Highland grammar school; Franklin Johnson of the school committee; Harry L. Wheeler, Samuel McCord and Franklin Peavey.

The active bearers were: Col. Arthur J. Kerrigan, Lieut. Col. Lawrence E. Sanford, Major Ralph H. Fletcher, Adj. Harold Dowse, Supt. Paul Keyes, Capt. James E. Markham, all of the Lowell High school regiment.

One battalion of the high school regiment was in attendance at the church. The ushers were Captains George Phelps, John E. Echnal, Wallace F. Sanford, Lucien Brunelle, Roy E. Wells, and Quartermaster George F. Haggerty.

William North lodge of Masons was represented by Frank W. Dobson, Royal K. Dexter and Harold McDonald. Frank K. Stearns had general charge of the arrangements. C. M. Young & Co., undertakers, directed the burial.

SWEPT BY A STORM

Many Steamers Driven
to Refuge

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 27.—Railroad service in nearly every section of Newfoundland is stalled, and coastal steamers have been compelled to seek refuge during a hurricane which has been raging here since Saturday.

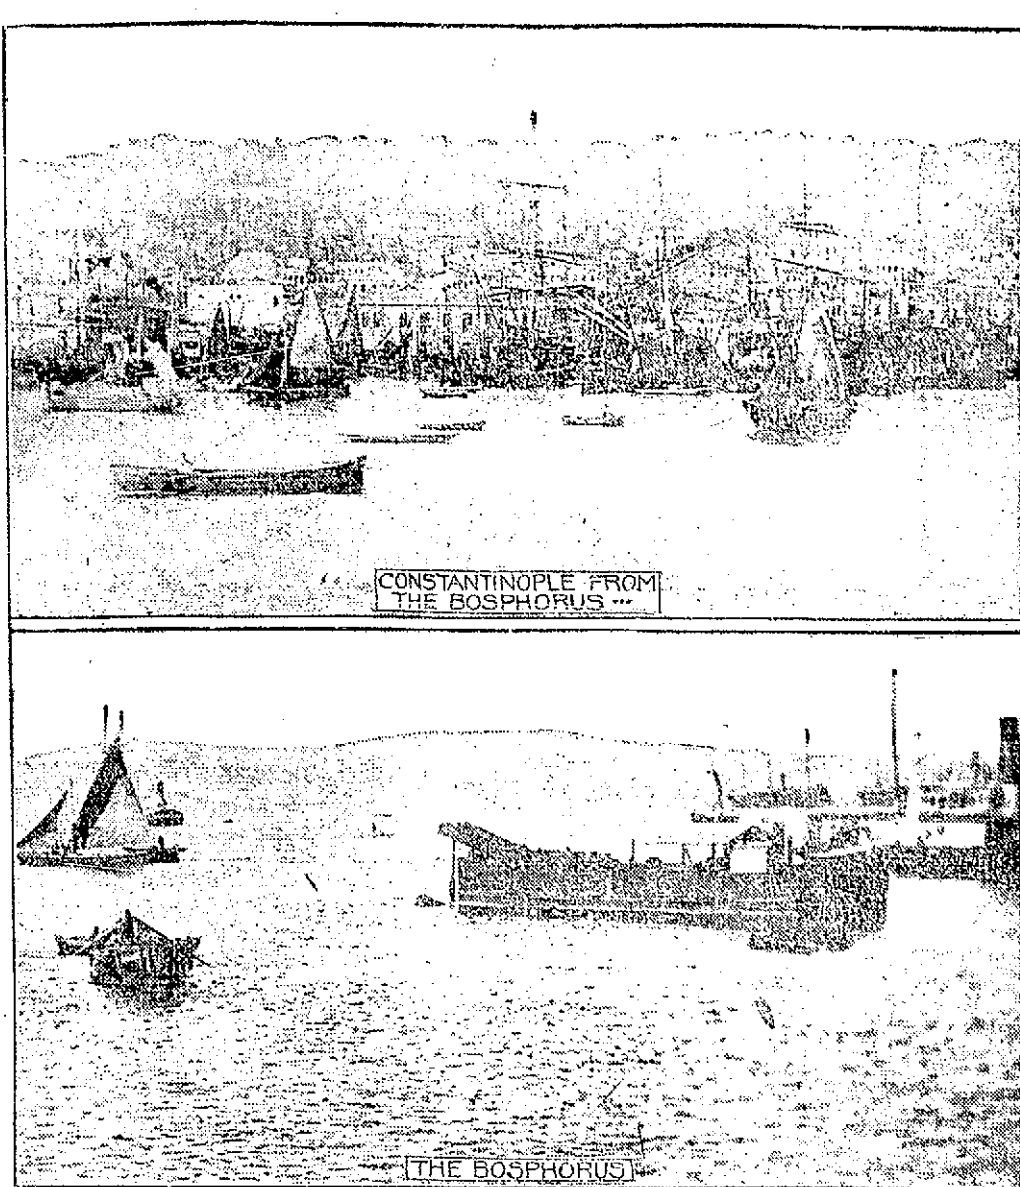

Reports of damage are slow in coming in, particularly from maritime centers, but it is feared that the toll of last week's storm, which wrecked half-a-dozen vessels with a loss of a number of men, will be equalled.

At least one victim of the storm among the coasting vessels was indicated when an unknown vessel was sighted at sundown last night off the northern coast with all sails gone and drifting to seaward.

No signs of the vessel's crew were apparent, and it is feared that they have been lost. A tug was sent by the Colonial marine department to search for the derelict.

A victim of Tuesday's hurricane was driven into port yesterday by the prevailing storm in the British steamer "Aurora," 11 days out from Philadelphia for Copenhagen. Her machinery, Capt. Roach reports, was disabled in the hurricane on Tuesday while the vessel was 178 miles off St. Johns harbor. Capt. Roach had been endeavoring to make port for the past five days, but a succession of head-on gales had prevented until yesterday. The "Aurora" will repair and proceed.

TURKEY EXPECTS INTERVENTION BY EUROPEAN POWERS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 27.—The Turkish government expects Italy to attempt to make good its threat to close the Bosphorus by blockade. Should this be done the government officials believe that the war will be carried outside of Africa and that immediate intervention by European powers will follow. The closing of the Bosphorus would have a serious effect on commerce. With its superior navy Italy would have little difficulty in maintaining an effective blockade.

JAMES J. McMANIMON

Good Roads Advocate Suggested
for Highway Commission

The entire Merrimack valley, from Lowell to the sea, and regardless of politics is out for James McManimon for a place on the state highway commission.

For years past this section of the state has been neglected on the highway commission with the result that this section has the worst roads in the entire state. This fact was not brought prominently to public attention until the coming of the automobile when it soon became apparent that the Middlesex county end of the state and that part of Essex along the Merrimack valley had been sadly neglected, comparatively speaking, in the matter of good state roads.

Mr. McManimon entered the contest for the place on the state highway commission some time ago at the earnest request of men of both parties here, for he can truthfully be said to be the most enthusiastic supporter of the good roads idea in this section and as soon as his candidacy became known there was a general rally to his support. On Friday a large delegation from the board of trade, headed by Senator Hibbard and Senator-elect Barlow, visited Governor Foss in behalf of Mr. McManimon. Governor Foss stated that already he had received many letters and personal requests for his nomination and that in behalf of this candidate and informed Mr. McManimon that he should be proud of a delegation from Lawrence, headed by Senator Hallett, will confer with the governor, while Haverhill will also send a delegation.

It is doubtful if any citizen outside of paid counsel has appeared more often before the highway commissioners or the county commissioners in behalf of good roads than Mr. McManimon. He has made a study of the question of road work and cannot be led astray on the matter of cost of road work. It was Mr. McManimon who 12 years ago started the agitation for a state highway from Lowell to Lawrence along the line of the Merrimack river, thus completing a chain of state highways from the mountains to the sea. He has worked hard and faithfully to put that road through and is working yet. Twelve years ago a survey was made of that road and yet the road is not completed. There is a reason: Lack of interest on the part of the state highway commissioners, who have nothing in common with this section of the state. Had a Middlesex county man been on the commission that road would have been finished ere now. In order to help along the movement for the river road between Lowell and Lawrence, Mr. McManimon started a popular subscription movement as a result of which a road was laid out in Dracut from the city line to Varnum's Landing, and that was the real start of the present state highway. Through Mr. McManimon's repeated agitation the town of Dracut now spends from $4000 to $6000 annually on roads and repairs under the small towns act, and the town of Dracut now owns its own stone crusher and steam roller. Mr. McManimon has held every office in the gift of the town of Dracut and has been its treasurer for the past 18 years. He is one of Dracut's leading business men, and no man ever had the interests of his town and locality more at heart.

When seen by a reporter of The Sun today Mr. McManimon said: "When first I learned of the approaching vacancy on the board of highway commissioners I made up my mind that it was high time that something should be done to have this end of the state represented on the commission. Then my friends urged me to be a candidate and I agreed to lead the fight having been fighting for the good roads for many years. Long before the general good roads movement was started I was before the legislature time and again in behalf of better roads for Dracut and its vicinity. One needs but to go toward Springfield or down to Cape Cod to see that Middlesex county has been woefully overlooked in the matter of good roads. Autoists will tell you that the worst roads in the state are to be found right around Lowell and in the Merrimack Valley. I want this end of the state to get a square deal. If it is my goal to secure to receive the appointment, I will not be afraid to offer sections as I believe that every corner of the state should be held with good roads but I will oppose spending all the money on one section to the neglect of the others."

TOWN IN DARKNESS

WAS WITHOUT LIGHT FOR THREE HOURS

AMHERST, Nov. 27.—The electric light station was badly damaged by fire last night, leaving the town in darkness for three hours until temporary connections could be made with transformers in an adjoining building. The electricity is generated at Turners Falls, and Amherst is connected also with a powerhouse at Mt. Tom, otherwise the town would be without light and power for days.

The fire, which is thought to have started from a gas leak, burned out the interior of the building, damaging the fittings, while the water damaged the machinery to a considerable extent.

PRESENTED WEDDING GIFTS

After the closing hour at the U. S. Cartridge Co. Saturday, an unexpected surprise was given Mr. Michael Rogers and Mr. Samuel Carson of the leading department, when Mr. Alfred Humphrey, foreman on behalf of the employees presented each one with a handsome leather rocker, colonial style. Mr. Humphrey said, in part: "It has long been our secret that you are about to get married, we take this means of conveying to you our wishes for your future happiness. When you get home you will find a token of our regard. I know you will value them not for their intrinsic value but for the kindly spirit which prompted the gift. Now let me convey the best wishes of the leading department to you and your future wives." They will join the benedictus the night before Thanksgiving.

BOTH WERE INJURED

Father and Son Hurt in an Explosion

WORCESTER, Nov. 27.—Max Sherer and his 16-year-old son Henry, of a Fox street, were badly bruised, cut and burned last night when a number of percussion caps intended for the electrical discharge of dynamite blasts were thrown into the kitchen stove. Neither was dangerously injured, although the stove was cracked open, a hole blown in the plaster above the stove and plaster knocked off the walls by the force of the explosion.

The father is suffering a bad injury to one of his eyes, into which something was hurled by the explosion. Max and his son, with an eye to making a bit of easy money, decided, it is said, to remove the insulation and sell the caps for old brass. The kitchen stove was decided on as the proper place for removing the paper insulation and the caps were thrown in. Before Max could replace the stove cover there was a sharp explosion and hot coals began to fly in every direction. A neighbor heard the noise and saw the smoke and rushed in a fire alarm.

The firemen helped remove the injured pair to the hospital, as no home was started.

LIGHTING PROBLEM

TAKEN UP BY THE BILLERICA

SELECTMEN

The board of selectmen and committee on public utilities and town affairs of the Billerica board of trade will meet in the selectmen's office at the town hall in Billerica tonight to discuss the question of municipal street lighting.

At the present time what is known as the "moonlight schedule" is in effect and on many nights during the year supposed to be moonlight the moon fails to put in an appearance and the streets are as dark as a coal bucket.

It is expected that as a result of the meeting to be held tonight some plan may be reached for the betterment of the service, and which will be acted upon at the next town meeting.

The town of Billerica at the present time pays $1250 per year for each lamp of 25-candle power for moonlight service, the lights being in operation until midnight on the nights included in the schedule.

A simple but sure way to increase the weight, it is asserted by several well known physicians, is to take regularly for several months, one or two grain hypo-nutrine tablets after each meal. These little tablets have the distinguished merit of increasing the red and white blood corpuscles, aiding digestion and promoting assimilation and absorption of the elements in the food which go to make blood and solid tissues. They are obtainable in sealed packages from physicians and well stocked apothecary shops.

OFFICER USED GUN

Riot at a Dance in New York City Yesterday

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A riot and shooting at the Schenck park dance hall, North Bergen, early yesterday, caused the suspension of Patrolman Thomas Cassidy of the North Bergen station, who almost came to blows with Mayor Charles Dietz of that town after the policeman had shot John Hanesky, 24 years old, of 614 Blum street, Union Hill.

Patrolman Cassidy and Baumerle tried to stop a number of men and women who were engaged in an objectionable type of dancing. Baumerle succeeded in ejecting some of the participants, but Cassidy met with opposition and was beaten.

While lying on the floor he pulled his revolver and fired at Hanesky, who is said to have been his chief assailant. Mayor Dietz, who had visited the dance to learn if difficulty had arisen, was about to leave the building as the shot was fired. He hurried to the assistance of Cassidy, who was the assure of a wild throng which threw bottles and other missiles.

The crowd hissed Cassidy for using his revolver, and after Mayor Dietz had sent in a riot call he joined in the clamor against the policeman. Cassidy resented the criticism of Mayor Dietz, and for a while it looked as if they would engage in a fist fight.

"I'll have those buttons off you tomorrow," shouted Mayor Dietz. "Go as far as you like," said Cassidy. "I am going to protect myself at all times, regardless of any official of this town."

Patrolman Cassidy, who says he is confident of vindication, is accused by Mayor Dietz of being over-hasty in using his revolver. Mayor Dietz said there was no occasion for shooting, as the "life of the policeman was not in danger and help was at hand to end any disturbance that might arise."

BURNED TO GROUND

Church, House and Poolroom

Were Destroyed by Fire

LEICESTER, Nov. 27.—Fire broke out early yesterday morning in the poolroom owned by John Cooney and Edward Hanlon of Leicester and rapidly spread to a three-tenement house owned by David Wilmot of Millbury, also to St. Thomas' Episcopal church, burning all three buildings to the ground. The fire was caused, it is thought, by an overheated stove. The firemen broke three hydrants and could get no water. The hydrants were repaired last week, putting in the standard thread, but firemen did not know of the change and turned the spindles the wrong way. An auto truck responded to a call from Worcester in seven minutes and was soon followed by the steamer. Hose was attached to a hydrant 500 yards away and water pumped to the fire. Sparks set fire to the house owned by Philip McCaffery, the house and barn of John J. Knox, firemen being stationed on the roofs of these buildings to save the buildings. The homes of Channing Smith and Joseph L. Cone, chairman of selectmen, were also threatened, but the Worcester firemen kept the blaze from spreading. It was the biggest fire Leicester ever had.

Two telephone poles were burned and the wires disconnected. All electric light circuits were out of order in Leicester and with the trolley wire down the cars could not run back into Worcester. Workmen repaired this damage yesterday.

The house was occupied by the families of Mrs. Ann Farrell and Charles Toner. The only thing saved was a piano owned by Miss Mary Farrell, a piano teacher. Everything was destroyed in the poolroom. In the church many valuable records were lost, also a valuable communion set.

The church will not be rebuilt on the old site, but the parishioners will attend St. Matthew's Episcopal church in Worcester. Rev. Henry Hague of Worcester was the pastor. It is possible that the church will be rebuilt on Leicester Hill. It has been recently repaired, as the trustees had been considering removing it to Leicester Center, but decided not to do so. The trustees will meet this week to settle the matter.

The total damage is estimated at $15,000, and most of it covered by insurance. The smoldering ashes were watched all day yesterday by the firemen.

SUED FOR SLANDER

SISTER MAY BE PRINCIPAL WITNESS AGAINST MAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Arthur Nicholas De Vore, the organist and composer, who lives at No. 41 Madison street, Brooklyn, is the defendant in a suit for $3,000 damages, brought by Mrs. Virginia Janis, of Cos Cob, Conn., who won favorable notice as a painter. Mrs. Janis alleges defamation of character.

A remarkable feature of the suit is that Miss Elsa Madge De Vore, the violinist, and sister of the defendant, is the person to whom the alleged slander was communicated, and is expected to be the principal witness for Mrs. Janis at the trial of the case on next Monday in the superior court at Bridgeport.

According to the complaint, Mr. De Vore told his sister that Mrs. Janis was a snake and an improper person for her to associate with. These statements, it is understood, were repeated to Mrs. Janis by Miss De Vore, who is living with the plaintiff, and form the basis for the suit.

RECEIVE RED HATS

stood the fatigue of the long and trying ordeal bravely with a smile for each and a word for several in the long procession that passed before the "pope" throne.

In accordance with the ecclesiastical law, a public consistory must be held three days after the private gathering, when the neo-cardinals with the exception of those from Spain and Austria, will receive their red hats. The Spanish and Austrian prelates as is provided in the concordat with these countries, must receive the biretta first from the hands of their respective sovereigns. The public consistory will be held on Thursday in the hall of the Beatitude instead of in the Sala Regia, as at first planned. The former hall is much the largest and was decided upon this morning because of the great number of applications of admittance.

Ceremony Was Simple

Today's ceremony, though comparatively simple, was carried out with the stately dignity and form that has characterized the institution from the earliest days. Save for those participating, it might have been a scene from the 13th or 14th century. In olden times the sacred college met in secret consistory and there discussed and finally decided upon the pope's nominations. Frequent objections were raised to candidates and their names were never proclaimed. Hence the privacy of the meetings. At present, however, the consent of the members to the papal program is assured in advance and the election is purely formal. The consistory was set for 9 o'clock and early in the day great crowds gathered in the piazza of St. Peter's and around the basilica to witness the arrival of the cardinals and other dignitaries. Soon after 8 o'clock, a procession of carriages was entering the Porta Del Leone and passing through the court of San Da-various persons familiar to the papal court.

The Pope Enters

Presently the door at the rear of the hall was opened and the Noble Guards, in their brilliant uniforms appeared, making way for the white clad figure of his holiness. Followed by Swiss guards and his suite, the pontiff passed at the threshold, while those present bent the knee. With a smile he greeted them and then walked to the throne, followed immediately. ## For Alderman

HARRY W. J. HOWE

THREE YEARS A MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF CHARITIES

Has given valuable public service without compensation.

Championed the people's cause at every opportunity.

What other official of Lowell has been more faithful to public duty?

A man who does things.

Public-spirited and progressive.

A few things accomplished as a commissioner of the charities department:

He stopped the practice of railroaders Lowell's feeble, aged poor from their home in the Chelmsford Street Hospital to Worcester and Danvers insane asylums.

He prevented a movement to transfer dependent Lowell children at St. Joseph's and St. Peter's orphanages over to the state's control, causing them to lose their identity by scattering them upon farms and depriving them of seeing friends and relatives.

Mr. Howe insisted in the name of humanity that such children should be permitted to remain in the city of their birth.

From time to time he has offered valuable suggestions which have been put into effect, improving conditions and raising the standard of the only hospital maintained by the city of Lowell.

He had the children in the Nursery provided with a variety of nourishing food that was greatly needed.

Had the mothers in the maternity ward provided with more nourishments for a longer period of time after child birth.

Demanding more bedding and clothing for the use of the sick and aged.

Had a night nurse placed in the men's hospital where ninety men were being cared for, and were being attended by irresponsible inmate help.

He secured an additional doctor for the ambulance service.

He advocated during the first year in office a change of name of the "Poor Farm" that the stigma might be removed, and had introduced in the city council the order changing the name to Chelmsford Street Hospital.

He urged the importance of a contagious hospital continuously, but protested in a stirring speech before a joint convention of the city council against the erection of a pest house within two hundred feet of the Chelmsford Street Hospital where five hundred people were spending the closing days of their lives.

In an address before the board of charities during 1910 he severely criticized the committee on appropriations, charging indifference to public duty in not appropriating sufficient money for the work of the pauper department.

He made a bitter attack some time ago upon the remorseless loan companies charging 75 to 100 per cent interest on loans to the people in humble circumstances, terming them as "extortionists and grinders of the poor."

He made an earnest public appeal for the safe-guarding of children against drowning in our canals, and through his efforts fences have been built in dangerous localities and the city council has since provided life-saving apparatus in many other dangerous places.

Mr. Howe has urged repeatedly a change in the system of medical attention and service at the Chelmsford Street Hospital. He urged as an imperative necessity that a house doctor be placed there to examine the eight hundred men and women who come and go each year; also to give the necessary medical service to the five hundred aged and sick people at the institution.

He advocated the employment of more nurses and dispensing with the services of irresponsible and irritable inmate help in the sick wards of the hospital.

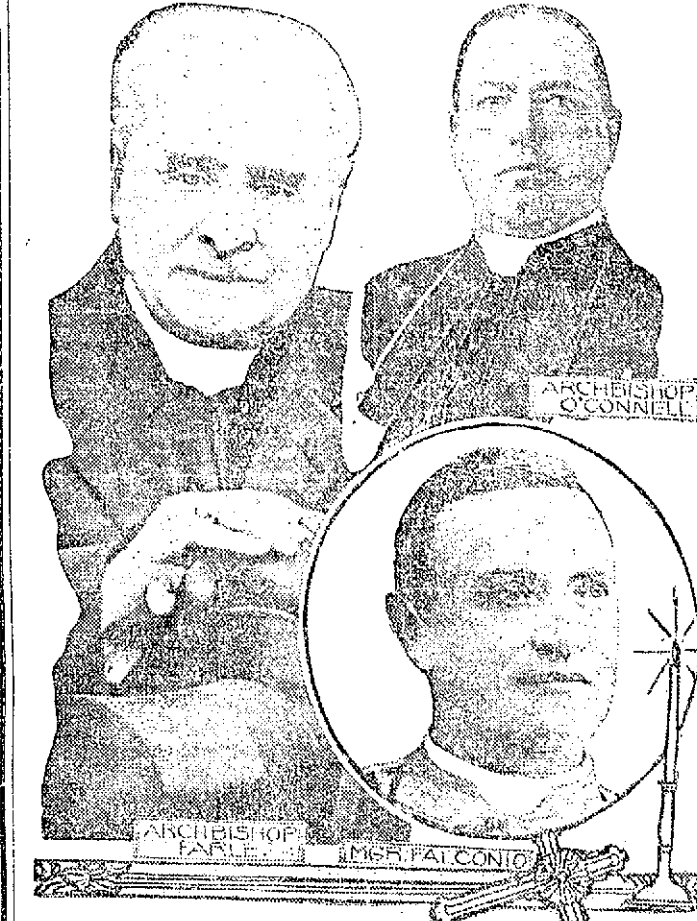

He also advocated as a matter of justice that nurses working fourteen hours a day should receive more than 93 cents per day for their responsible services.

Mr. Howe believes the city should maintain an auto ambulance as being indispensable to the aiding of the injured and the saving of life.

He believes in an economical but progressive policy for the city.

That the new commission should reduce the municipal debt, thereby saving the interest money which might be used for the employment of labor and public improvements, such as public sanitary stations, a contagious hospital and a public hall.

SYDNEY J. DENNISON,

these from where their occupants found entrance to the palace.

Gathered in the Hall of The Consistory where their duty or privilege brought them clustered for a few moments, nothing sadly, the passing of several who had been present on the last similar occasion. As the moment arrived for the appearance of the pontiff, the assembly separated in three groups before the throne.

In one group were the cardinal bishops, in another the cardinal priests, to whom the new American cardinals will be added, while the third section comprised the cardinal deacons. Behind the cardinals were the patriarchs, archbishops, bishops, heads of orders, other high personages and leading to precedence, approached in turn and kneeling, kissed the papal ring. It was a long and tiresome ceremony, which Pius X bore with great patience.

As the last of the number paying homage returned to his place, gradually the greater number withdrew until the pontiff and the cardinals were left alone for the duties which had brought them together.

Pius X broke the silence that followed, saying a simple prayer and then still sitting delivered a brief allocution.

The Pope's Allocution

In this the pope begins by saying that the present year is a year of mourning for the church. All felt that this phrase alluded to the clamorous commemoration of the Italian jubilee, which it is felt offended the rights of the Holy See. Through the manifestations of secularism hatred to the Catholic faith, the allocution continues, was promoted, thus offending the faithful of the whole world, while the supreme greatness of Italy is this faith which had inspired every civil progress and which alone is the source of peace and lasting prosperity. The pope lamented the immensity which was granted to the enemies of religion in Rome, especially the iniquitous body as he refers to them, which opposed the existence of God and the Christian order.

Pius X then dealt with the persecution of the church in Portugal and expressed the hope that the Portuguese nation boasting of centuries of attachment to the church, would react against their enemy. The evils of modernism and naturalism were counterbalanced, the pope continued, everywhere by the love of the Holy Eucharist, as was proved by the congresses held in Cologne, London, Montreal and Madrid. Spain especially had, he said, demonstrated her true religious sentiment. He ended with the hope that God would preserve her from the evil threatening her peace and happiness.

The creation of the cardinals and the confirmation by his holiness of the archbishops and bishops already appointed, this offering the faithful of the church, would react against their enemy. The name of each chosen for honor was read, the pope inquiring of the cardinals in turn whether they approved the nomination. Assent was given by raising their red skull caps.

A surprise came when it was made known that the pope had created still another cardinal "in pectore"—that is, "in his breast"—the identity of the one so honored not being revealed.

This makes an addition of 19 to the cardinalate.

This departure from the known program gave rise to all sorts of rumors, including one that Archbishop Ireland would receive a red hat. Official denial of this purpose or that any other American prelate in addition to those proclaimed would be elevated was authorized at the vatican.

COUNCILMAN

William J.

GARGAN

Able, Honest and Progressive

Born in Lowell, educated in its public schools, served in the common council for two years, and recognized as one of its ablest members, being his party's choice for president of the council.

WHAT MR. GARGAN BELIEVES ABOUT LOWELL AND ITS SCHOOLS

GARGAN BELIEVES that notwithstanding the legislative enactment which provides that money must be appropriated for the maintenance of the schools and its system, at the desire of the board, that a judicious policy of economy could be exercised which would materially contribute to the lowering of the tax rate, without impairing the efficiency of the educational system.

GARGAN BELIEVES that the school boards in many Massachusetts cities today pay too much attention to expensive frills and fads, and little attention to the fundamental of a good sound education, with the result that in some respects the training of the young has been neglected.

GARGAN BELIEVES that when Lowell's public schools are placed on the state normal school with the practice work that is given them in the Barlett school, under the supervision of a good teacher, that the training of the young will be eligible to teach Lowell's children, without being required to serve a so-called apprenticeship in schools outside Lowell, or a year or more in the Lowell schools for Lowell girls.

GARGAN BELIEVES in the application of the merit system as the only basis for determining the fitness of a teacher for Lowell schools.

GARGAN BELIEVES that such an institution as the Industrial school should be encouraged by being of benefit to the young men and women of Lowell, and will exert his efforts to keep up its high standard, if elected.

A FINAL WORD

Elected Gargan and he will by his vote and vote educate and improve the conduct of Lowell's schools. He will be the elect for extraneous purposes.

THE SCHOOL BOARD

The women should vote early in tomorrow's primaries, before six o'clock if possible. They should remember that out of the long list of candidates they can vote only for five. Their task is simple compared to that of the men who have to vote for all the officials to be chosen, and yet they will have little difficulty if they keep in mind the fact that they can vote only for one candidate for mayor, four for aldermen and five for school committee.

The chief point to be remembered by the women is to vote for good and competent men. They will throw away their votes if they cast their ballots for men who are known only in their respective wards and men who have no special fitness for the school board. There are about half a dozen good men running and the women will show their good judgment if from the entire number of about three dozen candidates they put the ten best men at the top of the list. Of course they cannot vote for ten, but the ten who are highest will be put upon the final ballot.

It should be remembered that bigotry or intolerance does not qualify a man for the school board, although at least one candidate on the list seems to think otherwise.

GREAT BOOM FOR LOWELL

Nothing of a public nature appeared in Lowell for considerable time to indicate the great diversity or excellence of the products of our industries so clearly as did the two page advertisement of the A. G. Pollard Co. in The Sun of Monday, November 20. The advertisement referred entirely to Lowell made goods, and it is undoubtedly a fact that some of the things advertised were a revelation to a large number of our citizens. Very few of our citizens ever realized that we had so many shoe shops. Few, also, except those who have worked in the mills, were aware of the vast variety of textile fabrics turned out of the local factories. These goods are shipped to every country in the world, and yet this, we believe, was the first time in which an effort was made to present samples of the great variety of products of our local factories. It would be well to encourage the purchase of Lowell made goods in Lowell. The stores would thus help the factories, and the factories in turn could help the stores.

We do not know a better way of booming Lowell's industries than to show their products on the local counters, telling where they were made so that everybody can see for themselves the work turned out by the various factories. It is not an exaggeration to say that there are few cities in the world that can make such a fine showing of the diversified industrial products.

THE PRIMARIES TOMORROW

Tomorrow the voters will settle all the talk, the conjecture and anxiety regarding the outcome of the primaries under the new charter. No voter can deny that there are plenty of good men from whom to select and if these are not nominated, then it will not be the fault of the charter.

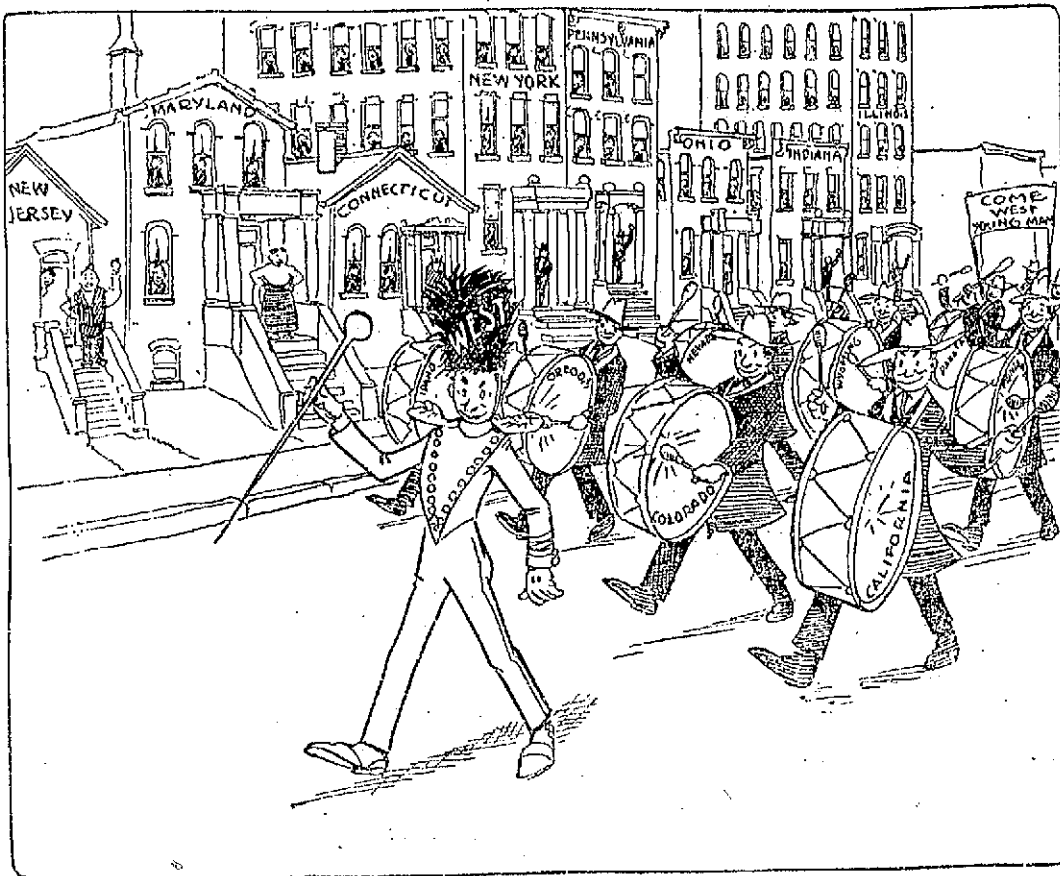

There are on the ticket, however, many candidates who are wholly unworthy of consideration because of inexperience, unreliability or the lack of capacity to conduct the business of any department successfully. Nobody would select for commissioner of public safety, finance or water department, a man whose greatest achievement in life has been to conduct a peanut stand or run a bootblack shop. There are no candidates that we know of in either of these branches of business; but there are candidates still worse, for they have no occupation. These men and those who have shown no capacity for any business except politics should not be selected for any office. Furthermore, it will be a reflection upon the voters to throw away any votes upon such a candidate. The position offered to the aldermanic candidate carries a salary of $2500 per annum. The man selected for such a place should be in some degree distinguished for ability. If the head of a big department store wanted a manager, he would not consider an applicant who never did anything to show that he possessed the necessary ability. The voters in the coming city election are the employers. They want five men to serve in the municipal board. They want level headed men who will do the city's business quickly and effectively. Unless candidates have had a business training it is not likely that they can individually take hold of the city departments and secure the best results. As employers looking for men who will give you better city government, you cannot afford to select inexperienced men who will have to learn the rudiments of the business. The salary should command a business man at least of average ability. If the voters realize their individual responsibility they will rise to the importance of the occasion and show that they are in earnest in their demand for better city government.

Some people hold that the city government whether bad or good reflects the will of the people. If they want weak, unprogressive and wasteful city government, they will vote for weak men; if they want a thoroughly progressive business administration they will elect men of this stamp, men of experience and foresight, who can lay out a system of municipal development that can be followed, little by little, it may be for years, but which when completed will reflect the good judgment of the men who planned it.

Lowell is on the eve of a new era and one in which some fixed policy of progress in city building, must be adopted. That policy may entail large expenditures, but the taxpayers do not object if they see satisfactory results. In order to start the work of municipal reform aright, we want the very best men we can find and let it be understood that the job of alderman will not be of the perfunctory kind that some people suppose it will be. The public will not require long to get rid of a drone if any such should happen to get elected, all of which should convince every voter of the utter foolishness of voting for any weak candidate.

If a man who makes a business of politics be elected alderman, he would naturally use his position to build up a political machine which would defeat the main purpose of the new charter. Under the new charter we are out to divorce our city government from petty or party politics. We cannot do this by electing to office men who have made politics their

SEEN AND HEARD

WHO

She's very brave. She has no fear of burglars underneath the bed. She wouldn't shriek, though there came a noise—of tools she has no dread. She isn't timid. After dark she'd just as soon go down the street alone, or even cross the park. And never think whom she might meet.

She's full of courage. If a fight should start up, anywhere or how, she wouldn't flinch to be in front. She'd calmly stand and watch the row. And who is she? What is her name? I really do not know as yet. She is the girl I've never met.

—Somerville Journal.

Wherever there is asphalt paving in Lowell there will you find good and sufficient reason for complaint. The street department has done considerable patch work this summer, but only a very small percentage of what it should have done. The Sun has pointed out numerous bad places in the streets and some of the places referred to were remedied. There is one place that should be taken care of and I am about to speak of a point near the corner of School and Pawtucket streets. Patrons of the street railway who leave the Pawtucketville, or Varnum avenue cars at School street, at night, are almost sure to step into a puddle of water unless it is during a very dry time. There is no light on the north side of the street and the street is full of holes. If the passenger alighting succeeds in doing so without missing a step, is fortunate, but he is almost sure to step into a puddle of water. These holes should be fixed and a light should be installed there.

Unlike baseball enthusiasts, football enthusiasts are not called "fans." Fans are out of date when the football season comes.

If a man laughs heartily at all your jokes, it is easy to persuade yourself that he has a first-class sense of humor.

A bright, pretty woman can fool some men all the time, and all men some of the time, and come pretty near to fooling all the men all the time.

To fill the stadium at a football game, they haven't found it necessary yet to advertise a double-header.

There is always plenty of room at the top in the aviation business.

The man who is always talking about himself is naturally unpopular with other people, who want to talk about themselves.

Perhaps the audiences that Cicero addressed were no more cultivated than American audiences nowadays, but they all understood Latin.

CARNEGIE'S LIST

Of Men Who Have Moved the World

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Andrew Carnegie named yesterday the 21 men to whom he referred in his talk to the members of the Young Men's bible class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church the night before as the men who had moved the world and who had done things that improved the condition of mankind.

"I want to tell the young men of America," said Mr. Carnegie, "that not one of these men was rich when he started on his career. Every one of them began as manual laborers. Every one of them had to earn his own bread. Of these the greatest number are Scotchmen, and I am proud of them and also of the Americans on the list, and I am proud to think that Thomas A. Edison was a messenger boy along with me."

His list follows:
 Arkwright—Sir Richard inventor of cotton spinning machine.
 Bell, Dr. Alexander G. Graham—Inventor of the telephone.
 Bessemer, Sir Henry—Inventor of the steel process that bears his name.
 Burns, Robert—The Scotch poet.
 Columbus Christopher—The discoverer.
 Edison, Thomas Alva—The electrician.
 Franklin, Benjamin—The electrical pioneer.
 Gutenberg, Johannes—The inventor of the printing press.
 Hargreaves, James—Inventor of the carding machine and the spinning jenny.
 Jenner, Dr. Edward—Discoverer of smallpox vaccine.
 Kay, John—Inventor of the fly-shuttle and the card-making engine.
 Lincoln, Abraham—Abolished slavery.

Morton, Dr. William Thomas Green—Discoverer of the anesthetic properties of ether.
 Murdoch, William—Perfected coal gas for illuminating purposes.
 Nash, Robert—Inventor of the manufacture of steel.
 Neilson, James Beaumont—The inventor of the hot blast used in the manufacture of iron.
 Shakespeare, William—Playwright.
 Siemens, Sir William—Inventor of the dynamo and the electric motor.
 Stephenson, George—Founder of railways.
 Symington, William—Inventor of the steamboat.
 Watt, James—Development of the steam engine.

SOCIETY GIRL

DECIDED TO ENTER CONVENT AND BECOME A NUN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Miss Suzanne Verby, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Verby, members of Washington's exclusive society set, and for whose debut arrangements had been made, was learned yesterday intends to enter the convent of the Sacred Heart in Paris.

Miss Verby was educated in the convent of the Sacred Heart in Belgium, and has more than once expressed a wish to become a nun. She is an accomplished harpist and has been heard by society folk in private recitals in her home. A reception had been decided upon for Jan. 1, at which she was to be presented to society.

Miss Verby returned to this city from the convent a year ago. At that time she was urged to make her debut, but she asked to continue her study of music. On practically the eve of the social affair that was to introduce her to society she has slipped away quietly to Paris to begin her novitiate much to the surprise of all save her most intimate friends, and even all these are not yet aware the young woman has left this country.

GLOUCESTER CHILDREN WERE IN GREAT PERIL

GLOUCESTER, Nov. 27.—Margaret, aged 18, Rosalind, aged 5, and Theodore, aged 3, the three children of United States Shipping Commissioner Rudolph McDonald, had a narrow escape from suffocation in a fire in the cellar of their home on Washington square last evening. The two young children, in charge of the elder sister, were in the upper apartments of their home, and before they were aware of their danger, the flames had cut off their escape. They were rescued just in time by their parents and neighbors.

LIFE CONVICT

WAS ALLOWED TO SEE HIS BABY DIE

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 27.—Thomas Edgar Stripling, for years police chief of Danville, Va., but now serving a life term in the Georgia penitentiary, watched his baby boy die yesterday. Today Stripling will attend the funeral and then be taken back to the penitentiary.

Stripling's presence with the dying child was due to Governor John M. Slaton. When the governor learned the child was dying at the home of Stripling's wife, he ordered that the convict be brought here under guard and be permitted to minister to the little one and comfort the mother.

CHILDREN'S SCALP TROUBLES

Children are subject to many kinds of scalp troubles, such as scales, sores, scabs, ringworm, etc. If neglected they spread and develop into serious diseases. Scratching aggravates the troubles and increases the danger of infection by other children. Cadum, the new remedy, stops the itching at once and begins healing with the first application. Its prompt use in any scalp trouble will save much suffering and anxiety. Cadum is good for any sore or eruption on the face or body. Of all druggists, 10c and 25c per box.

THE HOME RULE PLAN

Irish Nationalists Playing Waiting Game for Ireland in 1912

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The Irish Nationalists are playing a waiting game in the autumn session of parliament. They are quietly waiting for 1912, "Ireland's year," as they call it.

While the rankers of the party are doing missionary work in the lobby, the leader, John Redmond, is busy explaining home rule to the people of England. Mr. Redmond's campaign already has extended from Scotland in the north to the extreme south of England.

The Unionists declare that Mr. Redmond preaches a very different thing in England from that which he and his followers urge in America and Ireland. In England they say the Nationalist policy is painted as a simple local self-government, with no idea of separation from England, whereas in America and Ireland it is home rule with absolute independence.

Mr. Redmond and other Irish members who are touring England impress upon their audiences that what Ireland demands is not separation, but "the right of managing her own local affairs in a subordinate parliament, subject to the supremacy of the Imperial parliament—a demand that has never been made by any community of white men in the empire and refused, except in the case of Ireland.

Local affairs are taken to mean land, education, local government, transport, labor, industries, taxation for local purposes, law and justice and police, leaving to the Imperial parliament the management of army, navy, foreign relations, customs, Imperial taxation and matters pertaining to the crown and colonies.

GIFT OF $100,000

To be Made to Holy Cross College

WORCESTER, Nov. 27.—Rev. Joseph N. Dimand, S. J., president of Holy Cross college, officially announced yesterday that the priests of the Springfield diocese are to contribute $100,000 to Holy Cross in the erection of a new building to accommodate a larger number of students.

The movement is regarded as the first of its kind in America.

The announcement yesterday came as the result of word received from Bishop Thomas D. Keaven of Springfield, who has arranged the matter with the priests of the diocese at conferences held in Pittsfield, Worcester, and Springfield during the past week.

Many of the priests of the diocese are alumni of Holy Cross, but according to the plan as announced yesterday, all will be expected to contribute. The new hall will probably be named after the ones who are most instrumental in its erection, though this has not been definitely settled.

In a letter to all the alumni, Fr. Dimand, of the movement, and also explains the manner in which it was made possible, with all credit to Bishop Keaven, who himself started the plan and will attend to its success.

There are now at Holy Cross 550 students, all that the present accommodations will allow. Plans had been mentioned for limiting the number of students next year, but it will now be possible to allow an increase of the number of students.

WESTERN BOXER

Will Appear Here on Friday Night

Young Seal of Spokane, Wash., the 135-pound boxer who has been cleaning up all the eastern lights, will be the attraction at the Lowell Social and Athletic club next Friday night against Young McDonough of Manchester, N. H., one of the best men in his class, who recently fought Dave Desler at Manchester. Many Lowell people saw McDonough put it over Tommy Furry last year at Manchester, while he was seen here before the present club in good advantage. This bout will be one of the best ever offered here and should draw a big gathering of members. The semi-final will be of eight rounds between Billy Mulvey of Centerville and Geo. Stone of the Aero, which was scheduled for last week. The friends of this clever pair have been making numerous wagers on them and the bets have increased since the postponement of their bout. The curtain-raiser will be of six rounds between Young Scotty of Lowell and Johnnie Thompson of Lawrence. The meeting will be for members only and the program will surely be presented. The boxers, this time, have signed agreements to be present so that no disappointment will be in order. Al Delmont arrived in Lowell Friday night late and stated that the next time he will come by train and avoid the possibility of auto break-downs.

BESIDE WIFE'S GRAVE

Henry C. Beattie, Jr., Was Laid to Rest

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 27.—By the grave of the wife whom he murdered July 18, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., was buried in Maury cemetery shortly after sunrise yesterday. The Rev. John J. Fix, who prayed with Beattie just before he was led into the death chamber at the penitentiary Friday morning, read the service of the Presbyterian church.

When the burial service was over H. C. Beattie, Sr., left with Douglas, his son, and Hazel, his daughter, and two aunts of the murderer. The old father's grief was intense.

The pall-bearers, boyhood friends of Beattie, were asked by him to serve. Several of them had testified in his defense at the trial. A host's wagon, completely filled with flowers, entered the cemetery gates just after daylight and yesterday the mound of earth was hidden beneath chrysanthemums and immortelles.

$2500 PIN LOST

NEW HAVEN WOMAN HAD FASTENED IT UNDER SHIRTWAIST

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—The mysterious loss of a diamond pin worth $2500, the property of Mrs. Edmund M. Bradley of New Haven, has stirred the police of half a dozen cities as one of the most baffling disappearances that has ever come to their notice.

The pin contains 80 stones, diamonds of the purest water, set in platinum, and is a beautiful and valuable pendant and brooch. It was lost Saturday, supposedly during the time Mrs. Bradley was visiting Dr. Edgar Manson, vice president of the C. H. Penney company, at his home in Brookline, although whether in Cambridge, at the Stadium in Lexington, in Boston or in Brookline is not known.

Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Bradley came up from New Haven and stayed with Mr. Manson. On Saturday morning they went with Mr. Manson on an automobile excursion to Lexington, where they stayed for dinner, coming to the football game in the afternoon. In the evening the party went to Boston.

Mrs. Bradley wore the pin, she declares, not for ornament, but because she was afraid to leave it at home on account of its great value. She says that she fastened it securely under her shirtwaist and that no one could have stolen it. She is equally certain that it did become loosened in any ordinary way she would have noticed it, but as it was, she did not discover her loss until she had reached Mr. Manson's home in Brookline and was preparing to retire Saturday night.

A REAR-END COLLISION

One Man Killed and Traffic Was Held Up

CHESTER, Nov. 27.—One man was killed and traffic on the main line for about two hours by a rear-end collision of a locomotive and a freight train about half a mile west of the Chester depot shortly before 9 a. m. today. The dead man is Martin McGraw, a freight brakeman.

An eastbound freight train in charge of Conductor Young and Engineer Stone was standing on the main track when a locomotive, in charge of Chas. Kie, came down the grade and struck the rear end of the stationary train, smashing the caboose and a car laden with coal. Brakeman McGraw, who was in the caboose, was dead when taken out of the wreckage. Engineer Kie's locomotive was one that had been used to help a heavy train up a grade and was bound down the grade when the collision occurred. The signalman claimed that all signals were set against Kie's locomotive and Kie is alleged to have told his superior officers that he thought the stalled freight was on a branch line instead of on the main track.

MARCHESI CONFESSED

Italian Says He Beheaded His Wife and Her Companion

KENOSHA, Wis., Nov. 27.—Tortured by the mental picture of his headless wife and her lover, both of whom he flew Saturday night, Pasquale Marchesi, a merchant, yesterday confessed to a priest before the double crime had been discovered. Marchesi was turned over to the police.

According to Marchesi, he went home last night and found his wife, Teodora, and his cousin and namesake together. Without allowing his presence to be known he went to a woodshed, got a handaxe, crept into the house and chopped off the heads of both.

Taking his baby, two months old, from the arms of his slain wife, he washed the blood from its face, carried it to the home of his brother and said that his wife was ill. He returned to the house, dressed his daughter Josephine, 4 years old, and took her to his brother's.

Marchesi then returned to the house, concealed the axe and wandered about the city. As morning began to dawn the spectators who hunted Marchesi, he said, that he was forced to confess.

In the darkness of a church basement, where he spent part of the night, he said he heard the death cries of his wife and saw forms of headless persons rushing at him through the blackness. As the music of the morning mass came to his ears from the auditorium he said he thought he distinguished the words, "Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord." Then he went and told the priest publicly of his crime.

I went home last night earlier than I had expected," he told the priest, "I had no suspicion of my wife's unfaithfulness, but I was driven to senseless desperation by what I saw."

"I ran to a woodshed and seized a lumberman's handaxe. I carefully raised the window and entered. My arm strengthened by the sight; I chopped off my cousin's head at the first blow. He did not move. My wife started up and fought savagely. She beckoned forgiveness, throwing herself on her knees. "That was the end of her. Her defense had prevented the fatal blow, but her praying posture allowed the axe to swing freely. I was mad, but I had sense enough to avoid striking the baby which my wife had seized as she sought to defend herself. Marchesi had lived in Kenosha ten years and acquired considerable property.

STATE BRANCH, F. L.

Wants Waitresses Barred Where Liquor is Sold

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—The executive committee of the Massachusetts state branch of the American Federation of Labor has taken a decisive stand against the employment of waitresses in Boston hotels and cafes where the sale of liquor is the principal business. The committee has adopted resolutions which it has demanded of the executive board of the city that it put a stop to the practice. Sixteen members of the Boston Waiters' union are on strike at a South End hotel, where trouble started over the employment of one girl in the dining-room, and similar strikes are contemplated in other hotels and cafes.

A draft of a proposed law making it unlawful for women to serve liquor in the places mentioned, and providing for fine or imprisonment, or both, for proprietors who violate the law, has been prepared by the labor unions of the state for presentation to the legislature.

The Waiters' union is preparing to finance a general strike against the places it complains of should the executive board and the legislature fail to act.

The labor leaders who are behind the movement believe the executive board can afford only temporary relief, and they declare the solution of the grave problem lies with the incoming legislature through the enactment of drastic legislation making it a criminal offense to continue such employment of girls and women.

They declare that Boston today leads the entire country in the percentage of young women employed in such places and that the number has been added to so rapidly in the past ten years the membership of the Waiters' union has risen off more than ten per cent.

To secure a position as waitress in one of these places, it is alleged, a girl must be more than passably pretty, making it self-evident, it is further alleged, that the proprietors rely upon sex attraction to draw trade.

The Massachusetts Liquor Dealers' association is with the labor men in the demand for stringent legislation, and the solid support of the churches, regardless of denominational differences, is confidently expected.

MAN WAS DROWNED

AUTO TOOK AN UNKNOWN VICTIM TO DEATH

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—An automobile plunged from a ferryboat into the Hudson river yesterday and bowled an unknown ferry passenger over the side to his death in the waters. Thursday, a 17-year-old boy of Union Hill, N. J., was also run down by the car, and a leg was broken. The machine, valued at $3500, sank to the bottom.

The accident was on the West Shore Railroad ferry, Oswego. Edward Barry of New York, owner of the car, and a companion, were embarking the car on a paraferry to starting as soon as the boat

IT PROVED EFFECTIVE

IN THE CASE OF F. W. GRAHAM.

"Judging from my own experience, I do not hesitate to say that 'Tona Vita' as it is called, is an extremely valuable preparation," said F. W. Graham, of No. 48 Thien street, recently. "In fact," continued he, "it has proved more effective than I had believed possible."

"So far as my own case is concerned, I have been in a run-down condition for the past two years, tiring easily and being troubled with sleeplessness. I seemed to lack vitality, as I caught cold very readily, and my digestion and appetite were far from what they should be. Nervousness was also part of my trouble, and I was depressed."

"My condition grew so serious that I had to be attended by physicians. Nothing seemed to do me any good. I heard of 'Tona Vita' and decided to give it a trial. I can now say that I feel stronger than for a long time. I have more energy and my work is done with much less effort. I sleep and eat better and feel as though rejuvenated. I am a well man. I take pleasure in saying that this preparation has been far more beneficial to me than any medicine I have ever before taken. I can cheerfully recommend it to anyone."

"One of the specialists who are meeting the public in Lowell and explaining the nature of the new tonic said: 'We are receiving endorsements from scores of men and women of unquestioned integrity here in Lowell, who have found 'Tona Vita' to be all we claim, but we are especially glad to receive statements of this character from men who are so well and favorably known as Mr. Graham.'

"We want the men and women of this city who are suffering with what is called a 'run-down' condition, to try this medicine. If the results are not entirely satisfactory we refund the price paid for the medicine. We know we have the greatest tonic ever offered the public in this country, but we can't prove this to an individual unless he or she is willing to try it. Our time in Lowell is limited so that we are anxious to have as many people as we can conveniently talk to call during the next few days. We are meeting a great many people and the numbers are increasing each day, but when we realize how many debilitated, nervous people there are in this big city who would be so greatly benefited by 'Tona Vita' it seems positively wicked that either through carelessness or skepticism, they do not try this tonic."

The specialists will meet the public daily at the Hall & Lyon drug company between the hours of 9 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Barry and others assert that a lump which the boat made against the piles caused the car to start suddenly.

Barry shouted a warning to several persons standing in front of the car, and as they dodged, the machine plunged through the iron gate of the boat to the bottom of the river, despite efforts of several men to hold it.

The unknown man carried with it was well dressed and of middle age. He was not seen after being knocked into the forming water. "The police assert that the heavy iron chains at the head of the ferry, designed to reinforce the iron gates to avert such an accident, were not in place. They have begun an investigation."

CHILDREN'S RECITAL
The children's recital by the pupils of Mrs. H. C. Bond at the Lowell Conservatory of Music, Saturday afternoon, was of a pleasing nature. The affair was largely attended, and the following program was rendered: Commonwealth March, Agnes Pollard; Flower-de-lis, Grace Rowan; Rondo, Margaret Carnegie; Japanese March, Ella Larkin; Melody, Helen Bart.

POWDER PACKAGE

DISCOVERED AT HOME OF GOV. EMMOR TENER

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—What is believed to have been an attempt to injure Gov. John K. Tener of Pennsylvania, or, if not that, a practical joke that might have been serious, was discovered at Clariford, Pa., the home of the governor, near here, yesterday. A device containing powder, a match, a box of sticks, a well-shaped piece of lead and a small sheet of paper inscribed "Drive the republican bosses out" are in the hands of the postal authorities.

Several days ago Gov. Tener received through the mail a pasteboard cylinder, mailed from Philadelphia. He turned it over to the postman and it was locked up to await Postoffice Inspector Williams.

Yesterday Inspector Williams opened it. Inside was found powder, mixed with a substance as yet unknown. In the middle was a match, while in one corner there was a piece of sheet newspaper, which, when removed, would have a tendency to light the match.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Patrons of the theatre here will have the opportunity to see one of the season's most important attractions with the new comedy, "Introduce Me," presented at the Opera House tonight. This play is by Della Clarke, the successful young playwright and actress whose successes both as writer and player of parts are well known.

Miss Clarke has written in her happiest vein in "Introduce Me," as it is purely a comedy. But she has also woven a part that will be done to his Majesty's taste by Donald Meek himself. Mr. Chagnon will present the part of the minister and the other members of the company will all be seen to excellent advantage. Today is chocolate matinee day when each lady attending receives a box of chocolate. "Our New Minister" will be elaborately staged and will be presented under the personal direction of Donald Meek. Next week the company will present "Hello, Bill!"

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
The biggest bill of the season, as well as the best will greet the patrons of the Merrimack Square theatre for Thanksgiving week. Six high class vaudeville acts, the choicest to be secured from a large list, and several other entertaining features go to make up this feature offering. Nothing like this has ever been given on a local stage, price considered. There's not a weak spot in the entire list. If you are looking for the very best don't fail to visit Lowell's most popular playhouse during the coming week. Seats for the Thanksgiving performances are now on and scenic investitures. Popular prices will prevail for this engagement.

BILLY THE KID.
For Wednesday and Thursday nights and Thanksgiving matinee the attraction at the Opera House will be the popular western drama, "Billy the Kid," replete with stirring episodes and lively comedy scenes. The company is said to be fully up to the requirements of the parts assigned them. Seats for all performances are now on sale.

MAUDE ADAMS.

The interest in the presentation of Rostand's "Chantecler" at the Opera House December 5th is such that at this time it seems a certainty that the poetic fantasy of the barnyard in which Maude Adams is credited with having scored so big a success will draw an audience as big as the theatre can hold. The sale of seats for the engagement opens tomorrow morning and preparations are being made for handling of a large line of people. The work is one that makes a direct appeal to all lovers of good literature and poetic drama, and its audience is sure to be a brilliant one.

The chief thing about the production of "Chantecler" is that it keeps the poetry of the original work without ever allowing for a moment the interest to flag. The eye is caught by the novelty of the production directly at the start. The four scenes showing the barnyard night and the breaking dawn on the hills, the kitchen garden where the Guineas' reception and the fight between Chantecler and the Game Cock take place, and the great forest where Chantecler is given his first real music lesson by the Nightingale, are all wonderful to behold.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

There are girls and girls and all are attractive, but there is something very attractive about "The Jungle Girls," who head-line the bill this week at Keith's, presented by Tom Linton and assisted by Grace Linguist, the charming comedienne and singer. "The Jungle Girls" are six in number, dainty to match and their act is a great scenic and musical production, utterly unlike anything ever seen in vaudeville before. Then there are Claude and Camille Fisher in their great comedy conception, "Rogues' Decision." The Ushers are top-notch artists in vaudeville and need no extended introduction. Eddie Ross, a bright star in the firmament of minstrelsy, will entertain with his inimitable monologue. The Ploetz-Larella sisters, three in number, are among the world's greatest contortionists and acrobats. Last week we saw the perfection of acrobatic work by the male performers and this week we will see it by the female; and the female of the species is more graceful than the male. Watson and Little are singing comedians of rare merit. The Dorians will pass one "Terrible Night" at each performance with the assistance of great acrobatic skill and a bounding bed. Clemons and Dean are delightful comedy entertainers while another great act that is entirely apart from the conventional vaudeville act is that of Mlle. Rialto, one of the foremost models of Paris assisted by M. Louis Lavollee. Mlle. Rialto makes an illustration of songs sung by M. Lavollee. The act is most artistic and captivating. Then there will be the usual new first run pictures. Seats are now on sale for Thanksgiving day but must be ordered at the box office. Telephone or mail orders for the holiday will not be received. This applies to the holiday only.

HATHAWAY THEATRE
Donald Meek has certainly made a good selection in picking out a play for the holiday week for the Hathaway Theatre. Thompson's greatest of all rural comedies, "Our New Minister," one of the most popular plays of the day. Some plays only last a season; others don't get that far, while some, notably "Our New Minister," will endure as long as the public has time to laugh.

It is usually a character play and the characters are all drawn true to life and are familiar to us in New England as the scenes are laid in the neighboring state of New Hampshire in an imaginary small town called Hardscrabble and well named at that. The characters include a young minister entirely different from anything in the ministerial line that Hardscrabble has ever seen, a couple of crusty deacons, the town trouble-maker, the town constable, a fair young daughter of the flock and a tough youngster from New York who has come into Hardscrabble looking for excitement which he gets. A funnier combination of characters could not be gotten together in the whole wide world and their troubles keep the audience in roars. One of the funniest characters in the play is Darius Starline, the town constable and a man of valor, who, a part that will be done to his Majesty's taste by Donald Meek himself. Mr. Chagnon will present the part of the minister and the other members of the company will all be seen to excellent advantage. Today is chocolate matinee day when each lady attending receives a box of chocolate. "Our New Minister" will be elaborately staged and will be presented under the personal direction of Donald Meek. Next week the company will present "Hello, Bill!"

STATIONARY ENGINEERS

In spite of the rainy weather, a large number of engineers and their friends gathered at the hall of Lowell, No. 17, N. E. St., 67 Market street, on Friday evening and listened to a very interesting and instructive lecture on "Engine Room Practice" by Bro. F. L. Johnson, associate editor of Power of New York, who handled his subject in an unusually interesting manner. The lecture was given in a simply explained and several problems worked out on the blackboard that are frequently touched upon and questioned about by the license examiners. No. 17 has started on its educational work for the winter and from all indications this year promises to be one of the most profitable and interesting ones in its history.

On next Friday evening, Dec. 1st, Mr. Henry Cave, president of the Automobile Welding Equipment Co. of Springfield, Mass., will give a demonstration and illustrated lecture on the process of welding. The lecture is free and all engineers, interested mechanics and the public are cordially invited to attend.

MEMBERSHIP RECEIVED
The Y. M. C. I. regular meeting was held at 11 o'clock yesterday with a large attendance and considerable business was transacted. Twenty-five propositions for membership were received, and the investigation committee reported that the society was in a very flourishing condition at the present time.

A handicap bowling tournament will be held on Thanksgiving day. At the close of the meeting Messrs. Prunagan, Gilligan, Cole, Burns and Whalen spoke on the good and welfare of the society. It was decided to have a mass celebration for the repose of the souls of the deceased members on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock at the Immaculate Conception church. Henry Cosgrove was elected general manager and Arthur O'Neil floor director of the dancing party to be held Thanksgiving eve.

BRIDE SHOT HUSBAND

Man is Blinded and Probably Fatally Injured

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Della Johnstone, of No. 230 East Broadway, was taken to the Madison street station last night on a charge of felonious assault, after her husband Robert had been blinded and probably fatally injured by a shot from a magazine gun.

The woman, young and comely, a bride of only four months, protested her innocence pathetically, and begged to be allowed to attend the bedside of her husband during his last hours.

But the police had suspicions, and held her in spite of the statement of the dying man that the shooting was accidental.

Patrolman Haynes was passing the house where the Johnstones live when he heard the shot. He rushed up to the fourth floor, where they have a room in the home of a family named Shapiro. He found the young husband lying on the floor with a fearful wound in his temple, but still conscious and courageously calm.

The wife, almost in hysteria, stood trembling nearby. "The revolver lay on the floor."

"How did it happen?" Haynes asked the woman. But she was bending over her prostrate husband and calling to him in piteous grief.

"Bob, Bob, tell him how it happened,"

DR. PERKINS DEAD

He Was Father-in-Law of Lawyer Jackson Palmer

NEWTON, Nov. 27.—Dr. Henry Phelps Perkins, aged 51, one of the most prominent members of the medical profession of this city and senior surgeon in the Newton hospital, died early yesterday morning at his home at 30 Margin street, West Newton.

His death was due to heart disease and was preceded by an illness of only a few hours' duration.

On Saturday afternoon Dr. Perkins had attended the Harvard-Yale game, and in the evening had been a family gathering at his home at which he appeared in the best of spirits.

In addition to the constant strain of his professional labors Dr. Perkins had of late been devoting himself to a personal investigation of the doings of the Middlesex county grand jury in the case of his son-in-law, Jackson Palmer, the young Lowell attorney. At this he worked both night and day in spite of the warnings of medical friends that the overwork was destroying his health.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

A delightful impromptu concert was given at the County Training school yesterday when an excellent program was given by Mark M. Pease's orchestra, under the leadership of Hans Borjes, the talented violinist. The program was as follows:

Overture, "Shanspiel"; Bach; selection, "Chocolate Soldier"; ballet suite from "Faust"; a b c and d; "At Sunshine"; J. W. Gratton; waltz, "Artist's Life"; Strauss. The performers in the orchestra were: Hans Borjes, first violin; Edward Daley, second violin; Mark M. Pease, viola; A. W. Greeley, bass viol; Z. L. Blissette, flute; James T. Larkin, clarinet; Axel Yanzchor, bassoon; John Buckley, piano.

The band quartet and the boys' choir also rendered several selections. Mrs. Charles P. Scribner presiding at the piano. At the conclusion of the concert Acting Superintendent George Mason thanked the performers on behalf of the boys and the latter in giving them three rousing cheers.

The North Chelmsford Choral society resumed rehearsals, Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. F. E. Varney. At the

SPENCER'S COUNSEL

Has Decided to File Bill of Exceptions

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 27.—Bertram Geger Spencer, convicted Saturday of the murder of Miss Martha B. Blackstone, a Springfield school teacher, passed yesterday in a very quiet manner in the hospital section of the Hampden county jail. No outbreak on the part of the prisoner occurred during the day in contrast to the shrieking, weeping and shuddering actions at the recent trial. In fact, he has been exceedingly calm since the jury arrived at the verdict of first degree murder, and he even appeared quite pleasant throughout yesterday.

Spencer had no visitors yesterday, but he talked considerably on matters of the day with jailers, although not mentioning anything concerning his case. He appeared to have passed a restful night and in the forenoon read the papers with evident interest.

Spencer will remain at the jail here until the supreme court passes on a bill of exceptions, which it was announced his attorney, R. P. Stapleton, will file.

Alleged sympathy was expressed in this city for the wife of Spencer and their 3-year-old child, Bertram G. Spencer, Jr.

Onward!

That is Lowell's new watchword brought about by the adoption of the new charter in Tuesday's election.

Onward is the synonym for progress and progress means prosperity and happiness.

The new charter points the way to progress, prosperity and happiness.

All must inevitably follow the new idea and how soon they follow depends on the voters of Lowell themselves in the selection of the men to fill the offices under the new order of things.

Long ago a wise man said: "A government can be no better than the people make it. The people have spoken emphatically for good government in the future. Now it is up to the people to complete their great reform movement by selecting men with intelligent discrimination to transact the affairs of the city under the new charter, or form of government.—Lowell Sun, Nov. 9.

The above motto may be applied with truth to the career of James E. O'Donnell, candidate for mayor. Mr. O'Donnell has moved steadily onward since becoming old enough to earn his living, without mistake as to his avocation, or without failure in either his business or professional ventures. Mr. O'Donnell has been eminently successful in all things and his success has been self-made. He will make a successful mayor for he will apply the same honesty of purpose, perseverance, intelligence, fearlessness of conviction and progressiveness to the administration of the city's affairs that he has and does to apply his own.

PAGE DESCENDANTS

A Fortune of Several Million Dollars Awaiting Them

A fortune of several million dollars awaits the descendants of Thomas Page who are supposed to have located in this locality. The following letter relative to the matter has been received at this office:

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 24, 1911.
Editor Sun,

Dear Sir:—Can you give me any information regarding the descendants of Thos. Page, who lived in Leominster, Mass., until about 1781? Some of his descendants are supposed to have located in your locality, though possibly those now living there are not related to the Page family. I am, I believe, a descendant of Thos. Page, but may be wrong. I am, I believe, a descendant of Thos. Page, but may be wrong. I am, I believe, a descendant of Thos. Page, but may be wrong.

It appears that owing to the death of other heirs, a large property amounting to several million dollars reverts to this branch of the family, and has been lying dormant in the hands of the trustees and executors for many years past.

It is supposed that Thomas Page lived until about 1830, but it now becomes important to trace the time and place of his death and names of his descendants.

Any information you can give me will be greatly appreciated by Yours very truly,
Chas. N. Page.

"Historic Homes and Places, Genealogical and Personal Memoirs Relating to the Families of Middlesex County, Massachusetts," (Volume 1) tells of Thomas H. Page who was born in Leominster, September 8, 1811. He married twice and had several children. He was the son of Eli Page and a direct descendant of John Page who came to New England in 1630.

From 1818 to 1825 Eli Page and his family lived on what was then known as the Brooks farm, situated about 3 miles north of Leominster Center. In 1825 he removed to Leominster Center.

RIOTING IN LISBON

Troops Are Guarding
Presidential Palace

LISBON, Nov. 27.—Troops are today guarding the presidential palace and the offices of the newspapers. Further details of last night's rioting show that the cavalry repeatedly charged the manifestants on the Praça Dom Pedro. After the explosion there the mob invaded the hospital De Sao Jose, occupying the buildings of the former Jesuit college of Santo Antonio, whence they tried to carry off the wounded. The soldiers drove them off.

Rioting continued at various points until three o'clock this morning but during the forenoon everything has been quiet.

According to an official statement two persons were killed, 34 wounded and 66 arrested as a result of the riot. The statement attributes the disorders to enemies of the republic.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

IN HONOR OF MASTER JOHN J.
HEALEY JR.'S BIRTHDAY

Master John J. Healey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Healey of Bridge street, is beginning his society career at an early age, for on Saturday, his first birthday, he gave a delightful party to the little folks of the neighborhood. Master Healey as yet is not much of a speech-maker, but he was ably represented by his nurse, Miss Margaret Cannon, who, on his behalf, welcomed all the little guests and made them at home. The chubby little host was much hugged and kissed by his guests and to all who got near enough to him he imparted a souvenir in the shape of a couple of handfuls of very active finger-nails. There were songs and stories by the following guests: Dorothy Johnson, Agnes Newper, Nellie O'Neil, Baby Walter Wright, Baby Lester Shaw, Robert Albert Keith, Adeline Kennedy, George and Madeline Lynch, Georganna Keith and Annie Smith. Mrs. Healey was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. L. Shaw, Miss Annie Boyle, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Lynch and Mrs. O'Connell.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

MRS. ALBERIC BRANCHAUD RECEIVED MANY GIFTS

A pleasant surprise party was held Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alberic Branchaud, 15 Fisher street, the occasion being the anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Branchaud. The attendance was very large and a pleasant evening was spent.

Miss Josephine Blouin, a sister of the hostess, in behalf of the assembly presented the latter several beautiful gifts and the presentation was followed by a delightful program of music. Mrs. Branchaud, another sister of Mrs. Branchaud, had charge of the entertainment. A dainty luncheon was served and it was a late hour when the guests departed, all wishing Mrs. Branchaud many returns of the day.

A LIVELY BLAZE

In Store at Plain and Chelmsford Streets

At 12:38 o'clock this afternoon an alarm from box 218 summoned a portion of the fire department to a store at the corner of Plain and Chelmsford streets, where a lively fire was in progress.

The building is owned by Joseph Welch, while the store is being conducted by W. W. Coppin. The fire was caused by the explosion of a gasoline stove and did considerable damage. Mrs. Coppin who was in the store at the time grabbed the stove to throw it out and in so doing received severe burns about the face and hands.

When the firemen arrived on the scene of the fire they quickly put out the blaze and then they turned their attention to the woman who was badly burned with sweat oil, and now she is resting comfortably. Considerable stock was damaged by the smoke, water and fire and the property was also damaged.

JAMES E. O'DONNELL IS NOT A PROFESSIONAL POLITICIAN. HE HAS ENERGY AND CAPACITY.

Hatch---Boston & Northern Auto
Accident Case on Trial

The cases of Arthur E. Hatch and his wife, Maud B. Hatch, vs. Boston & Northern street railway for $20,000 were opened this afternoon before Judge Morton in the superior court.

The plaintiffs, with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson of this city were riding through Wilmington in Mr. Hatch's automobile on the evening of Aug. 1, 1910, and while turning into Main street from Shawsheen avenue were run into by an electric car. All were thrown from the machine except Mr. Hatch, who was at the steering wheel, one of the party being thrown over his head. The automobile was badly wrecked while Mr. and Mrs. Hatch were personally injured. The plaintiffs allege that the accident was due to the negligence of the defendant company. Mr. Hatch was on the witness stand at the time of going to press. J. Gilbert Hill and B. J. Maloney appear for the plaintiffs and Messrs. Trull & Wier for the defendants.

Mr. Hatch stated that on the night of the accident he and his wife went in their machine to Mr. Thompson's camp in Chelmsford, where they met Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and then all went for a ride through Bedford and

CHILD IS POISONED

Mother Wanted in Somerville Gave Herself Up to Local Police

Catherine Chamberlain, 25 years old, who has been separated from her husband, Charles Chamberlain, called at his lodgings at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sairais, 15 Stamford terrace, Somerville, at 7 o'clock last evening, took her 2½-year-old son, Charles E., out for a walk and returning half an hour later threw the child at the feet of Mrs. Sairais, saying: "Take him, I have no further use for him."

The child was screaming in agony, and it was evident at once to Mrs. Sairais that he was suffering from internal pain. Her suspicions were aroused by the presence of red marks around the child's lips, which apparently were marks of burns.

bridge, who after a hasty examination of the child said he was suffering from carbolic acid poisoning. He gave the little one an emetic which eased the pain and took him out of danger.

The police were notified and an investigation brought out the fact that the mother of the child had been in the habit of frequent intervals of coming to Somerville from Lowell, where she lived and where she was employed in a mill. She came each time to see her child and with the knowledge and consent of Mr. Chamberlain, who is a freight brakeman employed on the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine railroad, took the boy out for a walk.

On many of her visits Mr. Chamberlain was away, as was the case last evening. He was in Deerfield when located last evening, having finished a trip from Boston.

Mrs. Sairais had not the slightest hesitation in giving the child into its mother's custody last evening when the mother called, as on previous occasions she returned him without harm.

Mrs. Chamberlain, according to the story told to the police last evening by Mrs. Sairais, returned at 7:30 holding the child in her arms. When she rang the bell she was admitted, as the boy was crying.

Mrs. Sairais at first imagined that his outcries were the result of some minor suffering and did not realize that something unusual had happened until the mother threw him bodily on the floor at Mrs. Sairais' feet.

The mother turned on her heel and ran out of the house. As soon as the Somerville police were informed they notified the Lowell police of the circumstances of the case and asked for the mother's arrest. They received word about 11 o'clock that the arrest had taken place and that the woman was held for the Somerville police on the charge of assault with intent to kill.

EXTRA DAY'S PAY

For Precinct Officers Will Amount to $1080

It looks as if the precinct officers would receive two days' pay for their work at the coming primaries. They will have to work 20 hours instead of 10 hours, as heretofore, and City Clerk Flynn says they are entitled to two days' pay, $10 instead of $5.

Mr. Flynn spoke with Alderman Gallagher and asked his opinion in the matter. Alderman Gallagher is chairman of the committee on appropriations, and he allowed that if the precinct officers worked two days instead of one day they were entitled to two days' pay. There are 37 precincts and eight men to a precinct. Each man receives $5, so that the pay of precinct officers in each and every precinct amounts to $40. If they receive two days' pay the pay for precinct officers in each precinct will be $80 and it will take an appropriation of $1080 to give the precinct officers an extra day's pay. The extra pay will be made after the primaries and before the city election. It is not necessary that it should be made before the primaries.

No Extra Help
Despite the fact that party lines, under the new charter, have been eliminated, the precinct officers who affiliated under the old charter will continue to do business at the old stand, so that the republicans and democrats will have four representatives each in every precinct. That does not mean, however, that it will be a contest of parties. The officers will have no party lines to look after and will do business in houses not divided against themselves. The number of precinct officers is regulated by statute law and no extra help is allowed. The ballots and other necessities will be distributed tomorrow forenoon. The ballot boxes will be sent out to the different precincts about 11 a. m., and the doors will open at 12 m. Women who can vote between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock are requested to do so. By so doing they will avoid the general rush and facilitate matters very much. They should bear in mind, too, that by so doing they will make it easier for the precinct officers.

Waiting for Check Lists
The board of registrars and its efficient corps of clerks have had a pretty busy time of it and now the board is waiting for the check lists. They worked until 12 o'clock Saturday night and all day yesterday. The printer who is printing the check lists had also to work until midnight Saturday and now the registrars are waiting for the corrected proof.

A VICTIM OF
SCROFULAHad Large Bunches
Under His Arms.At Times Unable to Work—
Many Medicines Failed.Hood's Sarsaparilla, the Great
Blood Purifier, Cured.

HARRINGTON, N. H.—"I had scrofula, causing large bunches under my arms, which sometimes broke open and discharged. At times I was unable to work; not only were the bunches and sores very painful and disagreeable, but my health was so run down that I had no strength.

"Many medicines failed to do me any good, and when a friend recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla I had made up my mind that nothing could cure me, and I should simply have to bear my affliction. But Hood's Sarsaparilla worked like a charm. I drove out the impurities of the germs, or whatever may be the cause of scrofula. The bunches disappeared, and when I had taken six bottles all signs of scrofula had vanished, and there is not even a pimple or blotch on my body.

"Of course I am glad to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to any sufferer from scrofula or impure blood, as it has absolutely proven to be in my case a wonderful 'purifying' medicine."

Melissa E. Locke.

The great mass of people, as they themselves say, "can not afford to be sick." It compelled to employ physicians and nurses. They are the millions of intelligent, prudent and economical men and women that have come to know the great usefulness of Hood's Sarsaparilla and other good proprietary medicines.

Hood's Sarsaparilla effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than twenty different ingredients. There is no real substitute.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today in the usual liquid form or in the chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

Brief services were held at the residence, 58 Dover street, and at 2:15 o'clock, the ceremony at the church was begun. Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, pastor of the Elliot Congregational church, and Rev. Austin Rice of Wakefield officiating. Appropriate music was rendered by the Masonic quartet, comprising Edgar H. Baker, Arthur Munn, Charles H. Howard and Harry C. Needham.

At the close of the service opportunity was given to view the face of the departed for the last time. Burial was in the Lowell cemetery, only immediate relatives and friends attending the committal service at the grave.

The honorary bearers were: Supt. A. K. Whitcomb, of the school department; Cyrus W. Irish and Carl D. Burt of the Lowell High school; C. W. Morey of the Highland grammar school; Franklin Johnson of the school committee; Harry L. Wheeler, Samuel McCord and Franklin Pever.

The active bearers were: Col. Arthur J. Kerrigan, Lieut. Col. Lawrence F. Safford, Major Ralph H. Fletcher, Adj. Harold Dows, Capt. Paul Keyes, Capt. James E. Markham, all of the Lowell High school regiment.

One battalion of the high school regiment was in attendance at the church. The ushers were Captains George Phelps, John E. Echmal, Wallace P. Safford, Lucien Brunelle, Roy F. Wells and Quartermaster, George E. Haggerty.

William North lodge of Masons was represented by Frank W. Dobson, Royal K. Dexter and Harold McDonald. Frank K. Stearns had general charge of the arrangements. C. M. Young & Co., undertakers, directed the burial.

SWEPT BY A STORM

Many Steamers Driven
to Refuge

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 27.—Railroad service in nearly every section of Newfoundland is stalled, and coastal steamers have been compelled to seek refuge during a hurricane which has been raging here since Saturday.

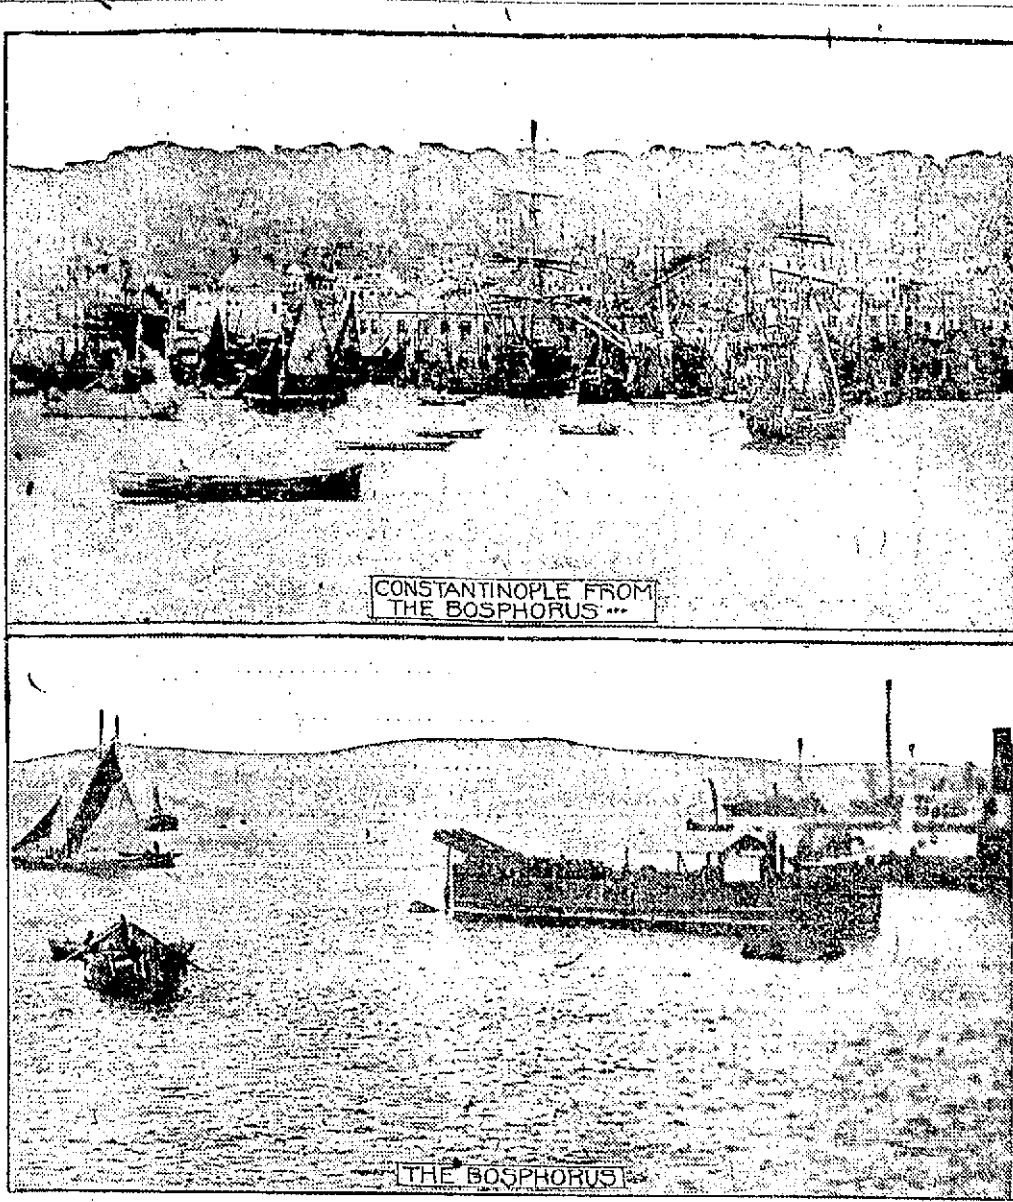

Reports of damage are slow in coming in, particularly from maritime centers, but it is feared that the toll of last week's storm, which wrecked half-a-dozen vessels with a loss of a number of men, will be equalled.

At least one victim of the storm among the coasting vessels was noticed when an unknown vessel was sighted at sundown last night off the northern coast with all sails gone and drifting to seaward.

No signs of the vessel's crew were apparent, and it is feared that they have been lost. A tug was sent by the Colonial marine department to search for the derelict.

A picture of Tuesday's hurricane was driven into port yesterday by the prevailing storm in the British steamer Kura, 11 days out from Philadelphia for Copenhagen. Her machinery, Cape Horn reports, was disabled in the hurricane on Tuesday while the vessel was 178 miles off St. John's harbor. Capt. Roach had been endeavoring to make port for the past five days, but a succession of head-on gales had prevented until yesterday. The Kura will repair and proceed.

TURKEY EXPECTS INTERVENTION BY EUROPEAN POWERS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 27.—The Turkish government expects Italy to attempt to make good its threat to close the Bosphorus by blockade. Should this be done the government officials believe that the war will be carried outside of Africa and that immediate intervention by European powers will follow. The closing of the Bosphorus would have a serious effect on commerce. With its superior navy Italy would have little difficulty in maintaining an effective blockade.

JAMES J. McMANMON BOTH WERE INJURED

Good Roads Advocate Suggested
for Highway Commission

The entire Merrimack valley, from Lowell to the sea, and regardless of politics is out for James McManmon for a place on the state highway commission.

For years past this section of the state has been neglected on the highway commission with the result that this section has the worst roads in the entire state. This fact was not brought prominently to public attention until the coming of the automobile when it soon became apparent that the Middlesex county end of the state and that part of Essex along the Merrimack valley had been sadly neglected comparatively speaking, in the matter of good state roads.

Mr. McManmon entered the contest for the place on the state highway commission some time ago at the earnest request of many of both parties here. For he can truly be said to be the most enthusiastic supporter of the good roads idea in this section, and as soon as his candidacy became known there was a general rally to his support. On Friday last a large delegation from the board of trade, headed by Senator Hibbard, Senator Bartlow, visited Governor Ames in behalf of Mr. McManmon. Governor Ames stated that already he had received many letters and personal requests from prominent business men in behalf of this candidate and informed Mr. McManmon that he should be proud of the backing behind him. This week a delegation from Lawrence, headed by Senator Haller, will confer with the governor, while Haverhill will also send a delegation.

It is doubtful if any citizen outside of said county has appeared more often before the highway commissioners or the county commissioners in behalf of good roads than Mr. McManmon. He has made a study of the question of road work and cannot be led astray on the matter of cost of road work. It was Mr. McManmon who 12 years ago started the agitation for a state highway from Lowell to Lawrence along the line of the Merrimack river, thus completing a chain of state highways from the mountains to the sea. He has worked faithfully to put that road through and is working yet. Twelve years ago a survey was made of that road and yet the road is not completed. There's a reason: lack of interest on the part of the state highway commissioners, who have nothing in common with this section of the state. Had a Middlesex county man been on the commission, that road would have been finished long ago. In order to help along the movement for the river road between Lowell and Lawrence, Mr. McManmon started a popular subscription movement as a result of which a road was laid out in Dracut from the city line to Varnum's Landing, and that was the real start of the present state highway. Through Mr. McManmon's repeated agitation the town of Dracut now spends from $4000 to $6000 annually on roads and repairs under the small town act, and the town of Dracut now owns its own stone crusher and steam roller. Mr. McManmon has held every office in the gift of the town of Dracut and has been its treasurer for the past 10 years. He is one of Dracut's leading business men, and no man ever had the interests of his town and locality more at heart.

When seen by a reporter of The Sun today Mr. McManmon said: "When first I learned of the approaching vacancy on the board of highway commissioners I made up my mind that it was high time that something should be done to have this end of the state represented on the commission. Then my friends urged me to be a candidate and I agreed to lead the fight having been lighting in the cause of good roads for many years. Long before the general good roads movement was started I was before the legislature time and again in behalf of better roads for Dracut and its vicinity. One needs but to go out toward Springfield or down to the Cape to see that Middlesex county has been woefully overlooked in the matter of good roads. Autos will tell you that the worst roads in the state are to be found right around Lowell and in the Merrimack valley. I want this end of the state to get a square deal. If it is my good fortune to receive the appointment I will not be unfair to other sections as I believe that every corner of the state should be treated with good roads but I will oppose spending all the money on one section to the neglect of the others."

TOWN IN DARKNESS

WAS WITHOUT LIGHT FOR THREE HOURS

AMHERST, Nov. 27.—The electric light station was badly damaged by fire last night, leaving the town in darkness for three hours until temporary connections could be made with transformers in an adjoining building.

The electricity is generated at Turners Falls, and Amherst is connected also with a powerhouse at Mt. Tom. Otherwise the town would be without light and power for days.

The fire, which is thought to have started from crossed wires, burned out the interior of the building, damaging the fixtures, while the water damaged the machinery to a considerable extent.

PRESENTED WEDDING GIFTS

After the closing hour at the U. S. Cartridge Co. Saturday, an unexpected surprise was given Mr. Michael Rodgers and Mrs. Samuel Casson of the loading department, when Mr. Alfred Humphrey, foreman, on behalf of the employees presented each one with a handsome leather rocker, Colonial style. Mr. Humphrey said, in part: "It being an open secret that you are about to get married, we take this means of conveying to you our wishes for your future happiness. When you get home you will find a token of our regard. I know you will value them not for their intrinsic value but for the kindly spirit which prompted the gift. Now let me convey the best wishes of the loading department to you and your future wives." They will join the benedictus the night before Thanksgiving.

FATHER AND SON HURT IN AN EXPLOSION

WORCESTER, Nov. 27.—Max Sherer and his 16-year-old son Henry, of Fox street, were badly bruised, cut and burned last night when a number of percussion caps intended for the electrical discharge of dynamite blasts were thrown into the kitchen stove. Neither was dangerously injured, although the stove was cracked open, a hole blown in the plaster above the stove and plaster knocked off the walls by the force of the explosion.

The father is suffering a bad injury to one of his eyes, into which something was hurled by the explosion.

Max and his son, with an eye to making a bit of easy money, decided, it is said, to remove the insulation and sell the caps for old brass. "The kitchen stove was decided on as the proper place for removing the paper insulation and the caps were thrown in. Before Max could replace the stove cover there was a sharp explosion and hot coals began to fly in every direction. A neighbor heard the noise and saw the smoke and pulled in a fire alarm. The firemen helped remove the injured pair to the hospital, as no blaze was started.

LIGHTING PROBLEM
TAKEN UP BY THE BILLERICA
SELECTMEN

The board of selectmen and committee on public utilities and town affairs of the Billerica board of trade will meet in the selectmen's office at the town hall in Billerica tonight to discuss the question of municipal street lighting.

At the present time what is known as the "moonlight schedule" is in effect and on many nights during the year the moon is supposed to be moonlight the moon falls to in an appearance and the streets are as dark as a coal pocket.

It is expected that as a result of the meeting to be held tonight some plan may be reached for the betterment of the service, and which will be acted upon at the next town meeting.

The town of Billerica at the present time pays $12.50 per year for each lamp of 25-candle power for moonlight service, the lights being in operation until midnight on the nights included in the schedule.

Riot at a Dance in New York City Yesterday

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A riot and shooting at the Schenck park dance hall, North Bergen, early yesterday, caused the suspension of Patrolman Thomas Cassidy of the North Bergen station, who stood up to blows with Mayor Charles Dietz of that town after the policeman had shot John Hanesky, 24 years old, of 614 Blum street, Union Hill.

Patrolman Cassidy and Baumerich tried to stop a number of men and women who were engaged in an objectionable type of dancing. Baumerich succeeded in ejecting some of the participants, but Cassidy met with opposition and was beaten.

While lying on the floor he pulled his revolver and fired at Hanesky, who is said to have been his chief assailant. Mayor Dietz, who had visited the dance to hear if difficulty had arisen, was about to leave the building as the shot was fired. He hurried to the assistance of Cassidy, who was the center of a wild throng which threw bottles and other missiles.

The crowd hissed Cassidy for using his revolver, and after Mayor Dietz had sent in a riot call he joined in the clamor against the policeman. Cassidy resented the criticism of Mayor Dietz, and for a while it looked as if they would engage in a fist fight.

"I'll have those buttons off you tomorrow," shouted Mayor Dietz.

"Go as far as you like," said Cassidy. "I am going to protect myself at all times, regardless of any official of this town."

Patrolman Cassidy, who says he is confident of vindication, is accused by Mayor Dietz of being over-hasty in using his revolver. Mayor Dietz said there was no occasion for shooting, as the life of the policeman was not in danger and help was at hand to end any disturbance that might arise.

OFFICER ASSAULTED

Alleged Assailants Were Sentenced and Entered Appeals

The police court room was literally packed this morning, great interest prevailing in the alleged assault which took place in West Centralville on Saturday, Nov. 11, when Patrolman Jeremiah Lynch was badly beaten. It is alleged, by Oscar and Ernest Daigle and Moise Houde. This case was started in police court on Friday last, and it came to an end this morning, when Ernest Daigle and his son Oscar were sentenced to six months in jail, and Moise Houde, another alleged assailant, was given a sentence of four months to the same institution.

The first witness called this morning was Xavier Daigle, who conducts a cobbler shop in Aiken street about 100 feet away from where the alleged assault took place. He testified that he was not related to the witnesses. He said he was coming out of a barber shop near the lunch cart when he saw some trouble. He did not see any one strike the officer, but saw the officer bleeding. Mr. Daigle, Sr., was at the time standing where the street and when his son was placed under arrest, he pleaded with the officer not to strike him. He also said he saw Officer Lynch and Oscar Daigle on the ground, but he did not see the latter strike or kick the officer. Later he saw Officer Noonan strike Daigle Sr. on the head with his club.

Elphège Beaudette testified that he was in Lakeview avenue at 11:20 o'clock. He heard the officer talking loudly and saw him grab Oscar Daigle, after which both men went down on the ground. He saw blood on the officer but did not see any blow struck or any kicking done. At the time Daigle, Sr., was about 15 feet away from the officer and he did not see him kick the latter. He testified to seeing Officer Noonan and going with Oscar Daigle and he heard Officer Lynch say he wanted Ernest Daigle. He then went after him in an alleyway near the lunch cart and when Mr. Daigle protested about going, the officer struck him over the head with his club.

M. Emond of 19 Aiken avenue said he was there at the same time as Officer Noonan. He saw Officer Lynch and Oscar Daigle clinched on the ground. "Officer Noonan," continued the witness, got hold of Oscar Daigle and pulling out his club, struck him over the head with it. Both officers were at that time holding the prisoner. Ernest Daigle, who was standing about 5 or 6 feet away, came along and when the officer struck his son, he said: "Hold on, don't kill him, but take him away." At this point Officer Lynch said: "I want you, too, and he struck him on the head with his club."

Bazin Testifies
Hormidas Bazin was the next witness called. His testimony was to the effect that he was standing near the lunch cart with Ernest Daigle, when the latter's son came along and asked him if he was going home, to which the father answered "In a minute." The next thing witnesses saw was two men struggling on the ground. The father went to the son and told him "Let the officer take you and I will pay the cost." The witness said he did not see any kicking done or any blow struck.

This concluded the testimony and Lawyer Dimahe argued for some time in behalf of his clients, reviewing the case from its beginning to the end, and asked the court to deal severely with the three men and he brought both their records.

The court in summing up the evidence said it was a very serious assault on both the officer and the law and imposed the above sentences. The defendants appealed and they were held in the sum of $500 each.

Gauer was charged with assault and battery and through his counsel, J. J. O'Connor, had his case continued till Friday morning. Bani, who was charged with drunkenness, pleaded guilty and was fined $5.

Patrolman J. H. Clark testified that he arrested the defendant in Middlesex street last night and that the latter admitted entering the shop of Pike by ripping off two boards in an empty tenement over the store.

Thomas M. Sheehan denied being guilty of non-support of his wife, but after the court heard the testimony of the wife, he found the defendant guilty and placed him on probation.

Case Continued

The case of Fred Boucher, who was charged with drunkenness and unlawfully removing baggage from the boarding house of David Lariviere, 568 Middlesex street, was continued till tomorrow pending a settlement between the two parties. On the charge of drunkenness the defendant will be sentenced tomorrow.

House Raided

A raid was made yesterday afternoon in a boarding house at 68 Worthen street conducted by Richard Ponstein and six men were taken to police station, four of them being charged with gaming on the Lord's day, while the other two were charged with being present at a game on the Lord's day. All of them admitted their guilt and the men who were charged with being present were fined $5 each, while three of the others were fined $10 apiece. The owner of the house was fined $20, and another charge, that of illegally exposing liquor with intention of selling the same, was brought against him.

The defendant denied any guilt of this complaint and the case was tried. Officer Frank Fox testified that yesterday afternoon in company with Sgt. Duncan, Inspector Grady and Patrolman Abbott, he visited Ponstein's boarding house in Worthen street and there found four men playing cards on drinking beer, while in another room was a keg of beer on tap.

The defendant testified that he had purchased the said beer for his boarders but he denied selling it. The court found him guilty and imposed a fine of $50.

KILLED BY A TRAIN

Mangled Body of An Unknown Man Found

A gruesome discovery was made yesterday morning, when the mangled body of an unknown man was found near the Red Bridge by railroad employees. The arms and legs were torn off and found in different places and the whole body was so disfigured that identification would be impossible.

The body was removed to the morgue at P. M. 12 o'clock. The body was there and the pockets were searched, but it contained was a little note book with the name John H. Riley, Woburn, Mass., written in it and several notes indicating that the man had visited several cities in search of work. The police are investigating, but they have not yet received any information concerning the dead man. It is thought he was struck by a train.

A winner, Y. M. C. I., Wed. evening.

SUB-LIBRARY OPENED

NEW SUB LIBRARY IN CENTRALVILLE.

People of Centralville Will Be Greatly Accommodated

A combination delivery station and deposit library was opened in Centralville today. It will be a sort of sub-library and is located at "Wells" drug store, 501 Bridge street. A large book case capable of holding about 350 books has been installed there and will contain about 75 per cent. fiction and children's books and reading matter for which there is a general demand. The new station may be used both for the delivery and deposit of books.

Should a call be made for a book not on hand it will be ordered by telephone from the main library. Persons who take books out from the public library may return them at the Centralville sub-library, or should a book be taken out at the sub-library it can be returned at the public library. City Librarian Chase says that if the experiment in Centralville proves a success, similar sub-libraries will be placed in the Highlands and other sections of the city.

CATHOLIC NOTES

New Catholic Club at No. Chelmsford

At both masses celebrated in St. John's church, North Chelmsford, yesterday morning, the celebrant, Rev. Fr. Doherty, took the opportunity to explain to the members of the congregation his object in forming the new Catholic club in the parish. He said the new society had taken over the hall formerly occupied by the St. John's T. A. society and that now it was his ambition to put the hall in proper condition for the new society. Such a thing, he said, could not be done without support from the parishioners, who he hoped would cooperate with him. The club will prove a benefit to the parish and the old members are as interested in the society as the young ones. Fr. Doherty explained to the mothers the need of keeping the young men in the town so as to keep them removed from temptation. He said that in the new society, the Knights of the Sacred Heart, there were 50 young boys who would soon be young men and could enroll in the new society.

An anniversary high mass of requiem will be sung on Thanksgiving morning at 7.30 for the deceased members of the Holy Name society. The usual large attendance of children was present at Sunday school yesterday afternoon. Rosary and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by Rev. Fr. Doherty. After ben-

A collection will be taken up in the church next Sunday for Cardinal O'Connell to be given as a testimonial upon his return from Rome.

That the members of the "Knights of the Sacred Heart" and their spiritual director have the full support of the members of the parish was clearly shown last night by the attendance that packed the town hall to the doors at their first sacred concert. There was a large number present from Centralville, Lowell, and other surrounding towns and all present thoroughly enjoyed the program presented which was one of high merit. ### SPREAD OF CHOLERA

Stops Work of American Board

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Because of the prevalence of cholera in Asiatic Turkey, combined with disturbed physical conditions in the Ottoman empire, the plans of the officers of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions for a thorough inspection of the board's mission work in Turkey have been practically suspended. About a year ago the board decided to send a strong committee to inspect the extensive work carried on in Turkey for nearly a century, the inspection to culminate in an all-Turkey conference at Constantinople in July, 1912. At this conference it was planned to have representatives from all missionary, educational and philanthropic organizations of all denominations carrying on work in Turkey. In the meantime cholera has become widespread in Asiatic Turkey and the political changes and uncertainties now developing have led the committee in Constantinople to which the arrangements had been committed to cable "postponement advised."

BURNED TO GROUND

Church, House and Poolroom Were Destroyed by Fire

LEICESTER, Nov. 27.—Fire broke out early yesterday morning in the poolroom owned by John Cooney and Edward Hanlon of Leicester and rapidly spread to a three-story house owned by David Wilmet of Millbury, also to St. Thomas' Episcopal church, burning all three buildings to the ground. The fire was caused, it is thought, by an overheated stove. The firemen broke three hydrants and could get no water. The hydrants were repaired last week, putting in the standard thread, but firemen did not know of the change and turned the spindles the wrong way. An auto truck responded to a call from Worcester in seven minutes and was soon followed by the steamer. Hose was attached to a hydrant 500 yards away and water pumped to the fire. Sparks set fire to the house owned by Philip McCaffrey, the house and barn of John J. Knox, firemen being stationed on the roofs of these buildings to save the buildings. The homes of Channing Smith and Joseph L. Cone, chairman of selectmen, were also threatened, but the Worcester firemen kept the blaze from spreading. It was the biggest fire Leicester ever had.

Two telegraph poles were burned and the wires disconnected. All electric light circuits were out of order in Leicester and with the trolley wire down the cars could not run back into Worcester. Workmen repaired this damage yesterday.

The house was occupied by the families of Mrs. Ann Farrell and Charles Toner. The only thing saved was a piano owned by Miss Mary Farrell, a piano teacher. Everything was destroyed in the poolroom. In the church many valuable records were lost, also a valuable communion set.

The church will not be rebuilt on the old site, but the parishioners will attend St. Matthew's Episcopal church in Worcester. Rev. Henry Hague of Worcester was the pastor. It is possible that the church will be rebuilt on Leicester Hill. It has been recently reported, as the trustees had been considering removing it to Leicester Center, but decided not to do so. The trustees will meet this week to settle the matter.

SUED FOR SLANDER

SISTER MAY BE PRINCIPAL WITNESS AGAINST MAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Arthur Nicholas De Vore, the organist and composer, who lives at No. 41 Madison street, Brooklyn, is the defendant in a suit for $5,000 damages, brought by Mrs. Virginia Janis, of Cos Cob, Conn., who won favorable notice as a painter. Mrs. Janis alleges defamation of character.

A remarkable feature of the suit is that Miss Elsa Madge De Vore, the violinist, and sister of the defendant, is the person to whom the alleged slander was communicated, and is expected to be the principal witness for Mrs. Janis at the trial of the case on next Monday in the superior court at Bridgeport.

According to the complaint, Mr. De Vore told his sister that Mrs. Janis was a snake and an improper person for her to associate with. These statements, it is understood, were repeated to Mrs. Janis by Miss De Vore, who is living with the plaintiff, and form the basis for the suit.

RECEIVE RED HATS

stood the fatigue of the long and trying ordeal bravely with a smile for each and a word for several in the long procession that passed before the papal throne.

In accordance with the ecclesiastical law, a public consistory must be held three days after the private gathering, when the new cardinals with the exception of those from Spain and Austria, will receive their red hats. The Spanish and Austrian prelates as is provided in the concordat with those countries, must receive the biretta first from the hands of their temporal sovereigns. The public consistory will be held on Thursday in the hall of the Beaulieu instead of in the Sala Regia, as at first planned. The former hall is much the larger and was decided upon this morning because of the great number of applications of admittance.

Ceremony Was Simple

Today's ceremony, though comparatively simple, was carried out with the stately dignity and form that has characterized the institution from the earliest days. Save for those participating, it might have been a scene from the 13th or 14th century. In ancient times the sacred college met in secret consistory and there discussed and finally decided upon the pope's nominations. Frequent objections were raised to candidates and their names were never proclaimed. Hence the privacy of the meeting. At present, however, the consent of the members to the papal program is assured in advance, and the election is purely formal.

The consistory was set for 9 o'clock and early in the day great crowds gathered in the piazza of St. Peter's and around the Basilica to witness the arrival of the cardinals and other dignitaries. Soon after 8 o'clock a procession of carriages was entering the Porta De La Zecca and passing through the court of San Domenico.

The Pope Enters

Presently the door at the rear of the hall was opened and the papal guards, in their brilliant uniforms, appeared, making way for the white clad figure of his holiness. Followed by Swiss guards and his suite, the pontiff passed at the threshold, while those present bent the knee. With a smile he greeted them and then walked to the throne. The procession before the throne followed immediately. Each dignitary accomplished various persons familiar to the papal court.

The name, however, will not be revealed until a later consistory at the option of the pope, and it is possible that this may not be until after the death of the reigning pontiff.

The cardinals completed the master of ceremonies threw open the door and the Noble and Swiss guards re-entered and escorted the pope to his apartment. The cardinals lingered a few moments and then returning to their waiting carriages, were driven to their residences or to temporary stopping places where the usual reception of ceremonies, left the Vatican forthwith to carry to each new cardinal the official notice of his appointment. He was accompanied by Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state. They drove to the American college where they were met by Mr. Kennedy, the rector, the vice rector, Mr. O'Brien and the spiritual director, Mr. Mahoney, and accompanied to the hall of the college, which Mr. Kennedy had transformed for the occasion.

New Cardinals Congratulated

In the center of the hall was the group of American and papal flags. Many prominent ecclesiastics and Americans witnessed the ceremony that followed. The master of ceremonies was introduced and handed to the new cardinals. Farley, O'Connell and Falconio, the formal notices of their election. At the same time he congratulated each heartily. Responding, Cardinal Falconio said:

"I rejoice that it falls upon me as dean to offer our sincerest thanks and most profound homage to his holiness for graciously deigning to raise us despite our unworthiness to sublime dignity. While by this solemn act the pontiff confers the highest honor upon us in our personal capacity, he also honors the noble, grand and powerful nation which is proud of its free institutions. He confers, likewise, a very great honor on the faithful Catholics of that nation who are truly great and worthy of their high reputation and whose steady progress under the aegis of sane Christian liberty wins the admiration of all."

"This unique honor withal comes to us less by reason of our personal merits than because of the exalted opinion which the noble mind of the pontiff."

HARRY W. J. HOWE

THREE YEARS A MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF CHARITIES

Has given valuable public service without compensation.

Championed the people's cause at every opportunity.

What other official of Lowell has been more faithful to public duty?

A man who does things.

Public-spirited and progressive.

A few things accomplished as a commissioner of the charities department:

He stopped the practice of railroad Lowell's feeble, aged poor from their home in the Chelmsford Street Hospital to Worcester and Danvers insane asylums.

He prevented a movement to transfer dependent Lowell children at St. Joseph's and St. Peter's orphanages over to the state's control, causing them to lose their identity by scattering them upon farms and depriving them of seeing friends and relatives.

Mr. Howe insisted in the name of humanity that such children should be permitted to remain in the city of their birth.

From time to time he has offered valuable suggestions which have been put into effect, improving conditions and raising the standard of the only hospital maintained by the city of Lowell.

He had the children in the Nursery provided with a variety of nourishing food that was greatly needed.

Had the mothers in the maternity ward provided with more nourishments for a longer period of time after child birth.

Demand more bedding and clothing for the use of the sick and aged.

Had a night nurse placed in the men's hospital where ninety men were being cared for, and were being attended by irresponsible inmate help.

He secured an additional doctor for the ambulance service.

He advocated during the first year in office a change of name of the "Poor Farm" that the stigma might be removed, and had introduced in the city council the order changing the name to Chelmsford Street Hospital.

He urged the importance of a contagious hospital continuously, but protested in a stirring speech before a joint convention of the city council against the erection of a pest house within two hundred feet of the Chelmsford Street Hospital where five hundred people were spending the closing days of their lives.

In an address before the board of charities during 1910 he severely criticized the committee on appropriations, charging indifference to public duty in not appropriating sufficient money for the work of the pauper department.

He made a bitter attack some time ago upon the remorseless loan companies charging 75 to 100 per cent. interest on loans to the people in humble circumstances, terming them as "extortionists and grinders of the poor."

He made an earnest public appeal for the safe-guarding of children against drowning in our canals, and through his efforts fences have been built in dangerous localities and the city council has since provided life-saving apparatus in many other dangerous places.

Mr. Howe has urged repeatedly a change in the system of medical attention and service at the Chelmsford Street Hospital. Has urged as an imperative necessity that a house doctor be placed there to examine the eight hundred men and women who come and go each year; also to give the necessary medical service to the five hundred aged and sick people at the institution.

He advocated the employment of more nurses and dispensing with the services of irresponsible and irritable inmate help in the sick wards of the hospital.

He also advocated as a matter of justice that nurses working fourteen hours a day should receive more than 93 cents per day for their responsible services.

Mr. Howe believes the city should maintain an auto ambulance as being indispensable to the aiding of the injured and the saving of life.

He believes in an economical but progressive policy for the city.

That the now commission should reduce the municipal debt, thereby saving the interest money which might be used for the employment of labor and public improvements, such as public sanitary stations, a contagious hospital and a public hall.

these from where their occupants found entrance to the palace.

Gathered in the Hall of The Consistory those whom duty or privilege brought there clustered for a few moments, noting sadly the passing of several who had been present on the last similar occasion. As the moment arrived for the appearance of the pontiff approached, the assemblage separated in three groups before the throne. In one group were the cardinal bishops; in another the cardinal priests; to whom the new American cardinals will be added, while the third section comprised the cardinal deacon. Behind the cardinals were the patriarchs, archbishops, bishops, heads of orders, other high personages and according to precedents, approached in turn and, kneeling, kissed the papal ring. It was a long and tiresome ceremony, which Plus X bore with great patience.

As the last of the number paying homage returned to his place, gradually the greater number withdrew until the pontiff and the cardinals were left alone for the duties which had brought them together.

Plus X broke the silence that followed, saying in a simple prayer and then still sitting delivered a brief allocution.

The Pope's Allocution

In this the pope begins by saying that the present year is a year of mourning for the church. All felt that this phrase alluded to the clamorous commemoration of the Italian jubilee, which it is felt offended the rights of the Holy See. Through the manifestations of sectarian hatred to the Catholic faith, the allocution continues, was brought thus offending the faithful of the whole world, while the supreme greatness of Italy is this faith which had inspired every civil progress and which alone is the source of peace and lasting prosperity. The pope lamented the immunity which was granted in the centuries of religion in Rome, especially the intolent body, as he refers to them, which opposed the existence of God and the Christian order.

Plus X then dealt with the persecution of the church in Portugal and expressed the hope that the Portuguese nation boasting of centuries of attachment to the church, would react against her enemy.

The evils of modernism and materialism were counterbalanced, the pope continued, everywhere by the love of the Holy Eucharist, as was proved by the congresses held in Cologne, London, Montreal and Madrid. Spain especially had, he said, demonstrated her true religious sentiment. He ended with the hope that God would preserve her from the evil threatening her peace and happiness.

The creation of the cardinals and the confirmation by his holiness of the archbishops and bishops already appointed was briefly followed. In all instances the procedure was the same. The name of each chosen for honor was read, the pope inquiring of the cardinals in turn whether they approved the nomination. Assent was given by raising their red skull caps.

A surprise came when it was made known that the pope had created still another cardinal "in pectore"—that is, "in his breast"—the identity of the one so honored not being revealed.

This makes an addition of 19 to the cardinalate.

This departure from the known program came rise all sorts of rumors, including one that Archbishop Ireland would receive a red hat. Official denial of this purpose or that any other American prelate in addition to those proclaimed would be elevated was authorized at the Vatican.

For School Board

COUNCILMAN William J. GARGAN

Able, Honest and Progressive

Born in Lowell, educated in its public schools, served in the common council for two years, and recognized as one of its ablest members, being his early choice for president of the council.

WHAT MR. GARGAN BELIEVES ABOUT LOWELL AND ITS SCHOOLS

GARGAN BELIEVES that notwithstanding the legislative enactment which provides that money must be appropriated for the maintenance of the schools and its system, at the hands of the board, that a judicious policy of economy could be exercised which would not materially contribute to the lowering of the tax rate, without impairing the efficiency of the educational system.

GARGAN BELIEVES that the school boards in many Massachusetts cities today pay too much attention to expensive frills and fads, and little attention to the fundamentals of a good, sound education which results in some respects the training of the young has been neglected.

GARGAN BELIEVES that when Lowell girls finish their school term at the state normal school with the practical work that is given them in the Bartlett school during that term, they should be eligible to teach Lowell's children without being required to serve a so-called apprenticeship in schools outside Lowell, and a word Gargan believes in Lowell schools for Lowell girls.

GARGAN BELIEVES in the application of the merit system as the only basis for determining the fitness of a teacher for Lowell schools.

GARGAN BELIEVES that such an institution as the Industrial school should be encouraged as being of incalculable benefit to the young men and women of Lowell, and will exert his efforts to keep up its high standard, if elected.

A FINAL WORD

Elect Gargan and he will by his votes and his influence with the common council for the betterment of the schools and the welfare of the city.

By reason of his ability, Mr. J. Gargan is eminently qualified to render efficient service to the citizens of Lowell, and the re-construction school board. Make Lowell a world Gargan believes in Lowell schools for Lowell girls.

THE SCHOOL BOARD

The women should vote early in tomorrow's primaries, before six o'clock if possible. They should remember that out of the long list of candidates they can vote only for five. Their task is simple compared to that of the men who have to vote for all the officials to be chosen, and yet they will have little difficulty if they keep in mind the fact that they can vote only for one candidate for mayor, four for aldermen and five for school committee.

The chief point to be remembered by the women is to vote for good and competent men. They will throw away their votes if they cast their ballots for men who are known only in their respective wards and men who have no special fitness for the school board. There are about half a dozen good men running and the women will show their good judgment if from the entire number of about three dozen candidates they put the ten best men at the top of the list. Of course they cannot vote for ten, but the ten who are highest will be put upon the final ballot.

It should be remembered that bigotry or intolerance does not qualify a man for the school board, although at least one candidate on the list seems to think otherwise.

GREAT BOOM FOR LOWELL

Nothing of a public nature appeared in Lowell for considerable time to indicate the great diversity or excellence of the products of our industries so clearly as did the two-page advertisement of the A. G. Pollard Co. in The Sun of Monday, November 20. The advertisement referred entirely to Lowell made goods, and it is undoubtedly a fact that some of the things advertised were a revelation to a large number of our citizens. Very few of our citizens ever realized that we had so many shoe shops. Few, also, except those who have worked in the mills, were aware of the vast variety of textile fabrics turned out of the local factories. These goods are shipped to every country in the world, and yet this, we believe, was the first time in which an effort was made to present samples of the great variety of products of our local factories. It would be well to encourage the purchase of Lowell made goods in Lowell. The stores would thus help the factories, and the factories in turn could help the stores.

We do not know a better way of booming Lowell's industries than to show their products on the local counters, telling where they were made so that everybody can see for themselves the work turned out by the various factories. It is not an exaggeration to say that there are few cities in the world that can make such a fine showing of the diversified industrial products.

THE PRIMARIES TOMORROW

Tomorrow the voters will settle all the talk, the conjecture and anxiety regarding the outcome of the primaries under the new charter. No voter can deny that there are plenty of good men from whom to select and if those are not nominated, then it will not be the fault of the charter.

There are on the ticket, however, many candidates who are wholly unworthy of consideration because of inexperience, unreliability or the lack of capacity to conduct the business of any department successfully. Nobody would select for commissioner of public safety, finance or water department, a man whose greatest achievement in life has been to conduct a peanut stand or run a headblack shop. There are no candidates that we know of in either of these branches of business; but there are candidates still worse, for they have no occupation. These men and those who have shown no capacity for any business except politics should not be selected for any office. Furthermore, it will be a reflection upon the voters to throw away any votes upon such a candidate. The position offered to the aldermanic candidate carries a salary of $2500 per annum. The man selected for such a place should be in some degree distinguished for ability. If the head of a big department store wanted a manager, he would not consider an applicant who never did anything to show that he possessed the necessary ability. The voters in the coming city election are the employers. They want five men to serve in the municipal board. They want level-headed men who will do the city's business quietly and effectively. Unless candidates have had a business training it is not likely that they can individually take hold of the city departments and secure the best results. As employers looking for men who will give you better city government, you cannot afford to select inexperienced men who will have to learn the rudiments of the business. The salary should command a business man at least of average ability. If the voters realize their individual responsibility they will rise to the importance of the occasion and show that they are in earnest in their demand for better city government.

Some people hold that the city government, whether bad or good reflects the will of the people. If they want weak, unprogressive and wasteful city government, they will vote for weak men; if they want a thoroughly progressive business administration they will elect men of this stamp, men of experience and foresight, who can lay out a system of municipal development that can be followed, little by little, it may be for years, but which when completed will reflect the good judgment of the men who planned it.

Lowell is on the eve of a new era and one in which some fixed policy of progress in city building, must be adopted. That policy may entail large expenditures, but the taxpayers do not object if they see satisfactory results. In order to start the work of municipal reform aright, we want the very best men we can find and let it be understood that the job of alderman will not be of the perfunctory kind that some people suppose it will be. The public will not require long to get rid of a drone if any such should happen to get elected, all of which should convince every voter of the utter foolishness of voting for any weak candidate.

If a man who makes a business of politics be elected alderman, he would naturally use his position to build up a political machine which would defeat the main purpose of the new charter. Under the new charter we are out to divorce our city government from petty or party politics. That cannot be done by electing to office men who have made politics their only calling.

NEW CARDINALS

Were Elevated at the Consistory Held in Rome Today

ROME, Nov. 27.—Obedient to a summons from Pope Pius X, the cardinals in Rome assembled in secret consistory today, confirmed the papal nomination of 18 new members in the College of Cardinals, the supreme governing body of the Roman Catholic church.

Of those thus honored three are citizens of the United States, Mgr. John M. Farley, archbishop of New York; Mgr. William H. O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, and Mgr. Diomedeo Falconio, apostolic delegate at Washington.

Thus with Cardinal Gibbons, American, will have now for the first time a representation of four in the cardinalate, which probably, as now constituted, will elect a successor to the reigning pontiff.

That this duty could not be delayed many years was an unwelcome thought that came on the present occasion to those who participated in the last previous consistory, four years ago.

Pope's Face Carworn

As the pope entered the hall of the consistory where today's ceremony took place, his step was less sure and the carworn face of his holiness bore signs of his recent illness that had come to stay. Nevertheless, he with-

DIVORCES GRANTED

At Session of the Court in This City Today

Three sessions of the superior court were held at the local courthouse in Cornhill street this morning. Justices Fessenden and Irwin presided over sessions of the divorce court in which contested cases were heard, and Justice Morton occupied the bench in the civil court with juries.

Decree for Libellant

The contested divorce case of John F. Bolster of Cambridge against his wife, Edith J. Bolster, which was opened before Judge Irwin in the court with juries, second session, Friday was resumed at the opening of this morning's session.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolster had been living together at Cambridge until March, 1908, when Mr. Bolster found a letter which he believed to be addressed to his wife. In consequence of the letter he and his brother went to Cambridge, Mass., where they said they saw Mrs. Bolster meet a man. The two later visited a hotel restaurant, Chinese restaurant, and subsequently went to a business building in Cornhill street. The following day, it was testified, Bolster accused his wife of being untrue to him and left her.

At the conclusion of the case Judge Irwin granted a decree nisi to the libellant.

Malden Case on Trial

The contested divorce case of Isabelle Bobb of Malden against William J. Bobb, on the grounds of intoxication and cruelty, was resumed before Judge Fessenden in the first session of the superior court, without juries, this morning.

Mrs. Bobb testified that she loved her husband before she married him, which shortly after her marriage the love turned to hate because of his alleged abuse. She said that in the spring of 1907 he struck and choked her, and on another occasion threw her covers of the stove at her and choked her. She admitted that her husband was opposed to her mother living with them. She further said that her husband was intoxicated every Saturday night and all day Sunday from June, 1906, to April 25, 1908.

Cruel and Abusive

Mary L. Homer of Winchester, who brought a bill for divorce against her husband, Edwin L., testified that she was married in 1880 and that on numerous occasions her husband was cruel and abusive in treatment to her and that he used vile and profane language. She said she would have left her husband long before she did but that she did not want to bring disgrace upon his children.

Mrs. Homer testified that on one occasion her husband grabbed her, pulled her off a chair and dragged her to the door and threw her out. On another occasion he struck her across the face, breaking her glasses and used profane language, also. On May 15, 1901 he grabbed her by the throat, threw her against a door and pounded her. The witness said that Mr. Homer did not drink intoxicants and was at good provider, but that he had a very violent temper.

A daughter of the libellant, who teaches school in Stoughton, testified that before she was five years of age she remembers having seen her father strike her mother and that since that time she saw her father maltreat her mother on many occasions.

The court ordered a decree nisi and the payment of $500 per year by Mr. Homer to his wife, the payments to be made monthly.

Malden Divorce Case

In Judge Fessenden's session of the divorce court this afternoon the case of Mary A. Powell vs. T. E. Powell, a contested divorce case, was heard. The libellant was a former school teacher in Malden and East Boston, and the libellee is the tripartite commissioner of that city. Mrs. Powell testified among other things that her husband slapped her face and pounded her back incessantly while her body was bruised many times. Several letters, postcards and other communications were presented, some of which ex-Mayor Joseph W. Warren, counsel for the libellant, asked the court to read personally so that they might not be made public.

On cross examination Mrs. Powell was asked why she resumed teaching in Malden after her marriage and she replied that she did so at her husband's request so that he might stand in with the superintendent of schools. The case was still on trial at the time of going to press.

Jury Session

At the opening of this morning's session of the superior civil court, with juries, Judge Morton presiding, the case of Morris Lempink, proprietor of the Boston Clock and Sult Co., against the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R., was taken up. This is an action of contract in which the plaintiff seeks to recover $2500 and interest at 5 per cent, the value of a box of furs, addressed to S. Backlund & Co., New York city, which was lost by the defendant company. J. J. & W. A. Hoag appeared for the plaintiff and A. W. Blackman for the defense.

Verdict For $200

The jury in the case of Thomas Fox, p. n. a., against Arthur P. Rabour, an action of tort, returned a sealed verdict of $200 in favor of the plaintiff, at the opening of this morning's session of the superior court, with juries, Judge Morton presiding.

The plaintiff in this case is a small boy, who fell through an opening in a piazza railing on the third floor of a tenement at 27 Rogers street on July 16, 1910 and was injured.

CITY HALL NEWS

City Employees to be Paid Wednesday

In order that they may not go shy on the festive bird on Thanksgiving day the city employees will be paid on Wednesday of this week instead of on Friday, the regular pay day. The announcement that Wednesday would be pay day was made at the office of the city clerk this forenoon.

More Scarlet Fever

Thirty-four cases of scarlet fever have been reported at the office of the board of health at city hall since November 1. Eleven cases have been reported within the last few days. The board does not consider the number of cases very large and says there is no cause for alarm. There are ten cases of diphtheria in the city that the board knows about. Take it on the whole, Lowell's health is very good.

More New Buildings

William D. Brown has been granted permits for the erection of a couple of tenement houses on the north side of Third street and easterly corner of Fremont street. The estimated cost of each house is $3,000.

Robert H. Elliott will build an eight-room house in Parkview avenue. The house will be 28x35 and will have eight rooms. The estimated cost is $3250.

Merrell & Co. have been granted a permit to lower a store floor at 368-370 Moody street. The expense of lowering the floor is estimated at $300.

William Stophard has been granted a permit to add a second story to a one-story house in Durant street. The estimated cost is $200.

The Common Council will meet tomorrow night.

Going Right Along

Good progress is being made at the new reservoir in Centralville. The bank is being put in shape rapidly and a great deal was accomplished last week despite the fact that there were two rainy days.

The Water Department

The water department is busy on the "pipe line" these days. Pipe is being laid in Hale street, Shaw street, Highland avenue and Fairfax and Wedge streets.

Reports and Schedules

City Auditor Paige is preparing his state reports and schedules. The auditor has to furnish reports for the state as well as for the city and the state report is a very voluminous one and includes a great deal of detail.

CHILDREN'S SCALP TROUBLES

Children are subject to many kinds of scalp troubles, such as scales, sores, scabs, ringworm, etc. If neglected, they spread and develop into serious diseases. Scratching aggravates the trouble and increases the danger of infection by other children. Cadum, the new remedy, stops the itching at once and begins healing with the first application. Its prompt use in any scalp trouble will save much suffering and anxiety. Cadum is good for any sore or eruption on the face or body. Of all druggists, 10c and 25c per box.

THE HOME RULE PLAN

Irish Nationalists Playing Waiting Game for Ireland in 1912

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The Irish Nationalists are playing a waiting game in the autumn session of parliament. They are quietly waiting for 1912, "Ireland's year," as they call it.

While the rankers of the party are doing missionary work in the lobby, the leader, John Redmond, is busy explaining home rule to the people of England. Mr. Redmond's campaign already has extended from Scotland in the north to the extreme south of England.

The Unionists declare that Mr. Redmond preaches a very different thing in England from that which he and his followers urge in America and Ireland. In England they say the Nationalist policy is painted as a simple local self-government, with no idea of separation from England, whereas in America and Ireland it is home rule with absolute independence.

Mr. Redmond and other Irish members who are touring England impress upon their audiences that what Ireland demands is not separation, but "the right of managing her own local affairs in a subordinate parliament, subject to the supremacy of the Imperial parliament—a demand that has never been made by any community of white men in the empire and refused, except in the case of Ireland."

Local affairs are taken to mean land, education, local government, transit, labor, industries, taxation for local purposes, law and justice and police, leaving to the Imperial parliament the management of army, navy, foreign relations, customs, imperial taxation and matters pertaining to the crown and colonies.

GIFT OF $100,000

To be Made to Holy Cross College

WORCESTER, Nov. 27.—Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S. J., president of Holy Cross college, officially announced yesterday that the priests of the Springfield diocese are to contribute $100,000 to Holy Cross for the erection of a new building to accommodate a larger number of students.

The movement is regarded as the first of its kind in America.

The announcement yesterday came as the result of word received from Bishop Thomas D. Beaven of Springfield, who has arranged the matter with the priests of the diocese at conferences held in Pittsfield, Worcester, and Springfield during the past week.

Many of the priests of the diocese are alumni of Holy Cross, but according to the plan as announced yesterday, all will be expected to contribute. The new hall will probably be named after the ones who are most instrumental in its erection, though this has not been definitely settled.

In a letter to all the alumni, Fr. Dinand tells of the movement and also explains the manner in which it was made possible, with all credit to Bishop Beaven, who himself started the plan and will attend to its success.

There are now at Holy Cross 550 students, all that the present accommodations will allow. Plans had been mentioned for limiting the number of students next year, but it will now be possible to allow an increase of the number of students.

WESTERN BOXER

Will Appear Here on Friday Night

Young Scula of Spokane, Wash., the 135-pound boxer who has been cleaning up all the eastern lights, will be the attraction at the Lowell Social and Athletic club next Friday night against Young McDonough of Manchester, N. H., one of the best men in his class, who recently fought Dave Deshler at Manchester. Many Lowell people saw McDonough put it over Tommy Perry last year in Manchester, while he was seen here before the present club to good advantage. This bout will be one of the best ever offered here and should draw a big gathering of members. The semi-final will be of eight rounds between Billy Mulvey of Centralville and Geo. Stone of the Aero, which was scheduled for last week. The friends of this clever pair have been making numerous wagers on them and the bets have increased since the postponement of their bout. The curtain-raiser will be six rounds between Young Scotty of Lowell and John Thompson of Lawrence. The meeting will be for members only and the program will surely be presented. The boxers this time have signed agreements to be present so that no disappointment will be in order. Al Delmont arrived in Lowell Friday night late and stated that the next time he will come by train and avoid the possibility of auto break-downs.

BESIDE WIFE'S GRAVE

Henry C. Beattie, Jr., Was Laid to Rest

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 27.—By the grave of the wife whom he murdered July 18, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., was buried in Maury cemetery shortly after sunrise yesterday. The Rev. John J. Pix, who prayed with Beattie just before he was led into the death chamber at the penitentiary Friday morning, read the service of the Presbyterian church.

When the burial service was over H. C. Beattie, Sr., left with Douglas, his son, and Hazel, his daughter, and two aunts of the murderer. The old father's grief was intense.

The pall-bearers, boyhood friends of Beattie, were asked by him to serve. Several of them had testified in his defense at the trial. A florist's wagon, completely filled with flowers, entered the cemetery gates just after daylight and yesterday the mound of earth was hidden beneath chrysanthemums and immortelles.

$2500 PIN LOST

NEW HAVEN WOMAN HAD FASTENED IT UNDER SHIRTWAIST

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—The mysterious loss of a diamond-pin worth $2500, the property of Mrs. Edmund M. Bradley of New Haven, has stirred the police of half a dozen cities as one of the most baffling disappearances that has ever come to their notice.

The pin contains 30 stones, diamonds of the purest water, set in platinum, and is a heart-shaped combination pendant and brooch. It was lost Saturday, supposedly during the time Mrs. Bradley was visiting Dr. Edgar Manson, vice president of the C. H. Tenney company, at his home in Brookline, although whether in Cambridge, at the stadium, in Lexington, in Boston or in Brookline is not known.

Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Bradley came up from New Haven and stayed with Mr. Manson. On Saturday morning they went with Mr. Manson on an automobile excursion to Lexington, where they stayed for dinner, coming to the football game in the afternoon. In the evening the party went to Boston.

Mrs. Bradley wore the pin, she declares, not for ornament, but because she was afraid to leave it at home on account of its great value. She says that she fastened it securely under her shirtwaist and that no one could have stolen it. She is equally certain that had it become loosened in any ordinary way she would have noticed it, but, as it was, she did not discover her loss until she had reached Mr. Manson's home in Brookline and was preparing to retire Saturday night.

MAN SHOT IN NECK

His Assailant Then Committed Suicide

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Arthur Carabantes, 29 years old, of 65 Centre street Roxbury, was shot in the neck early yesterday morning, and severely wounded by Thomas Colucci, aged 25, who afterward fired a shot into his own heart and died almost instantly.

Carabantes is the proprietor of a store at Roxbury Crossing and has other stores in the business section. Colucci, who lived in Centre street, near Carabantes' home, had a place in Broad street, and until within a few weeks was employed by Carabantes, but was discharged for a reason that was not learned yesterday morning.

Carabantes closed his store at Roxbury Crossing just after midnight and started for his home, followed by Colucci. It is said that as Carabantes was about to enter his home Colucci drew a revolver and fired five shots at him. Four of them missed, but the fifth struck the storekeeper in the neck and passed through his right cheek.

He fell from the steps to the sidewalk, unconscious, and Colucci, followed by a number of persons, ran out of their houses, fled along Centre street to the corner of Cedar, where he ran in back of an abandoned brewery and fired a bullet into his heart.

In the meantime several persons ran to division 10 nearby. Sgt. Augustus and a detail of officers were sent out. Carabantes was very weak from loss of blood and was sent to the city hospital, where the doctors said he will probably recover.

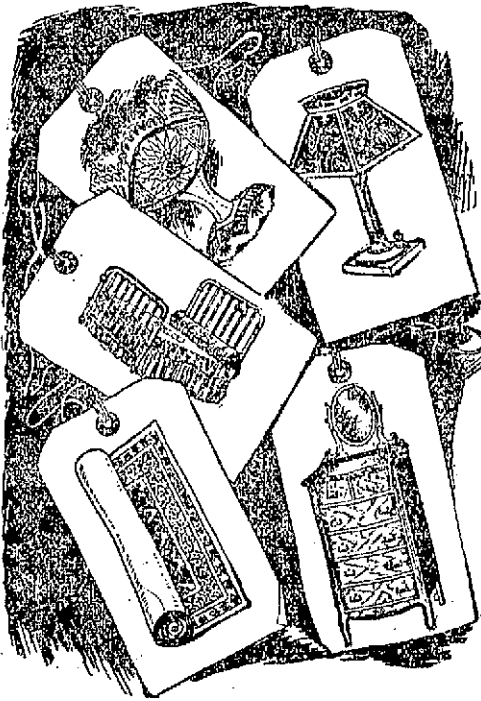

Residents of the neighborhood guided the other officers to the brewery, where the body of Colucci was found, with the revolver lying beside him.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Della been blinded and probably fatally injured by a bullet fired from the back of a man lying on the floor with a fearful wound courageously calm.

A REAR-END COLLISION

One Man Killed and Traffic Was Held Up

CHESTER, Nov. 27.—One man was killed and traffic on the main line of the Boston & Albany was hung up for about two hours by a rear-end collision of a locomotive and a freight train about half a mile west of the Chester depot shortly before 9 a. m. today. The dead man is Martin McFarlane, a freight brakeman.

An eastbound freight train in charge of Conductor Young and Engineer Stone was standing on the main track when a locomotive, in charge of Charles Kie, came down the grade and struck the rear end of the stationary train, smashing the caboose and a car laden with coal. Brakeman McFarlane was in the caboose, was dead when taken out of the wreckage. Engineer Kie's locomotive was one that had been used to help a heavy train up a grade and was bound down the grade when the collision occurred. The signmen claimed that all signals were set against Kie's locomotive, and Kie is alleged to have told his superior officers that he thought the stalled freight was on a branch line instead of on the main track.

MARCHESI CONFESSED

Italian Says He Beheaded His Wife and Her Companion

KENOSHA, Wis., Nov. 27.—Tortured by the mental picture of his headless wife and her lover, both of whom he slew Saturday night, Pasquale Marchesi, a merchant, yesterday confessed to a priest before the double crime had been discovered. Marchesi was turned over to the police.

According to Marchesi, he went home last night and found his wife, Rosalina, and his cousin and namesake together. Without allowing his presence to become known he went to a woodshed, got a handaxe, crept into the house and chopped off the heads of both.

Taking his baby, two months old, from the arms of his slain wife, he washed the blood from his face, carried it to the home of his brother and said that his wife was ill. He returned to the house, dressed his daughter Josephine, 4 years old, and took her to his brother's.

Marchesi then returned to the house, concealed the axe and wandered about the city. As morning began to dawn the specters so haunted Marchesi, he said, that he was forced to confess.

In the darkness of a church basement, where he spent part of the night, he said he heard the death cries of his wife and saw forms of headless persons rushing at him through the blackness. As the music of the morning mass came to his ears from the auditorium he said he thought he distinguished the words, "Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord." Then he went and told the priest publicly of his crime.

"I went home last night earlier than I had expected," he told the priest. "I had no suspicion of my wife's unfaithfulness, but I was driven to senseless desperation by what I saw."

"I ran to a woodshed and seized a lumberman's handaxe. I carefully raised the window and entered. My arm strengthened by the sight, I chopped off my cousin's head at the first blow. He did not move. My wife started up and fought savagely. She begged forgiveness, throwing herself on her knees.

"That was the end of her. Her defense had prevented the fatal blow, but her praying posture allowed the axe to swing freely. I was mad, but I had sense enough to avoid striking the baby which my wife had seized as she sought to defend herself."

Marchesi has lived in Kenosha ten years and acquired considerable property.

STATE BRANCH, F. L.

Wants Waitresses Barred Where Liquor is Sold

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—The executive committee of the Massachusetts state branch of the American Federation of Labor has taken a decisive stand against the employment of waitresses in Boston hotels and cafes where the sale of liquor is the principal business, and proposes to push the agitation against the practice until it ceases. Through resolutions adopted unanimously it has demanded of the executive board of the city that it put a stop to the practice. Sixteen members of the Boston Waiters' union are on strike at a South End hotel, where trouble started over the employment of one girl in the dining-room, and similar strikes are contemplated in other hotels and cafes.

A draft of a proposed law making it unlawful for women to serve liquor in the places mentioned, and providing for fine or imprisonment, or both, for proprietors who violate the law, has been prepared by the labor unions of the state for presentation to the legislature.

The Waiters' union is preparing to finance a general strike against the places it complains of should the excise board and the legislature fail to act. The labor leaders who are behind the movement believe the excise board can afford only temporary relief, and they declare the solution of the grave problem lies with the incoming legislature through the enactment of drastic legislation making it a criminal offense to continue such employment of girls and women.

"They declare that Boston today leads the entire country in the percentage of young women employed in such places, and that the number has been added to so rapidly in the past ten years the membership of the Waiters' union has fallen off more than ten per cent."

To secure a position as waitress in one of these places, it is alleged, a girl must be more than passably pretty, making it self-evident, it is further alleged, that the proprietors rely upon sex attraction to draw trade.

The Massachusetts Liquor Dealers' association is with the labor men in the demand for stringent legislation, and the solid support of the churches, regardless of denominational differences, is confidently expected.

MAN WAS DROWNED

AUTO TOOK AN UNKNOWN VICTIM TO DEATH

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—An automobile plunged from a ferryboat into the Hudson river yesterday and bowled an unknown ferry passenger over the side to his death in the waters. Henry Hoffman, a 17-year-old boy of Union Hill, N. J., was also run down by the car, and a leg was broken. The machine, valued at $3500, sank to the bottom.

The accident was on the West Shore Railroad ferry Oswego. Edward Barry of New York, owner of the car, and a companion, were cranking the car preparatory to starting as soon as the boat

IT PROVED EFFECTIVE

IN THE CASE OF F. W. GRAM.

"Judging from my own experience, I do not hesitate to say that 'Tona Vita' is, in an extremely valuable preparation," said F. W. Gram, of No. 48 Third street, recently. "In fact," continued he, "it has proved more effective than I had believed possible."

"So far as my own case is concerned, I have been in a run-down condition for the past two years, living easily and being troubled with sleeplessness. I seemed to lack vitality, as I caught cold very readily and my digestion and appetite were far from what they should be. Nervousness was also part of my trouble, and I was depressed."

"My condition grew so serious that I had to be attended by physicians. Nothing seemed to do me any good. I heard of 'Tona Vita' and decided to give it a trial. I can now say that I feel stronger than for a long time. I have more energy and my work is done with much less effort. I sleep and eat better and feel as though rejuvenated. I am a well man. I take pleasure in saying that this preparation has been far more beneficial to me than any medicine I have ever before taken. I can cheerfully recommend it to anyone."

One of the specialists who are meeting the public in Lowell and explaining the nature of the new tonic said: "We are receiving endorsements from scores of men and women of unquestioned integrity here in Lowell, who have found 'Tona Vita' to be all we claim, but we are especially glad to receive statements of this character from men who are so well and favorably known as Mr. Gram."

"We want the men and women of this city who are suffering with what is called a 'run-down' condition to try this medicine. If the results are not entirely satisfactory we refund the price paid for the medicine. We know we have the greatest tonic ever offered the public in this country, but we cannot prove this in an individual unless he or she is willing to try it. Our time in Lowell is limited so that we are anxious to have as many people as we can conveniently talk to call during the next few days. We are meeting a great many people and the numbers are increasing each day. When we realize how many debilitated, nervous people there are in this big city who would be so greatly benefited by 'Tona Vita' it seems positively wicked that either through carelessness or skepticism, they do not try this tonic."

The specialists will meet the public daily at the Hall & Lyon drug company between the hours of 9 a. m. and 8 p. m.

ted up at her New York slip. Barry and others assert that a bump which the boat made against the piles caused the car to start suddenly.

Barry shouted a warning to several persons standing in front of the car, and as they dodged, the machine plunged through the iron gate of the boat to the bottom of the river, despite efforts of several men to hold it.

The unknown man carried with it was well dressed and of middle age. He was not seen after being knocked into the foaming water. The police assert that the heavy iron chains at the head of the ferry, designed to reinforce the iron gates to avert such an accident, were not in place. They have begun an investigation.

CHILDREN'S RECITAL

The children's recital by the pupils of Mrs. Henrietta Bond at the Lowell Conservatory of Music, Saturday afternoon, was of a pleasing nature. The affair was largely attended, and the following program was rendered: Common-chord March, Agnes Pollard; Fleur-de-lis, Grace Rowan; Etude, Margaret Carmody; Japanese March, Ella Larkin; Melody, Helen Hart.

DISCOVERED AT HOME OF GOVERNOR TENER

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—What is believed to have been an attempt to injure Gov. John K. Tener of Pennsylvania, or if not that, a practical joke that might have been serious, was discovered at Charleroi, Pa., the home of the governor, near his residence. A device containing powder, a match, a piece of steel, a bullet-shaped piece of lead and a small sheet of paper inscribed "Drive the republican bosses out" are in the hands of the postal authorities.

Several days ago Gov. Tener received through the mails a cardboard box, mailed from Philadelphia. He turned it over to the postmaster, and it was looked up to await Postoffice Inspector Williams.

Yesterday Inspector Williams opened it. Inside was found powder, mixed with a substance as yet unknown. In the middle was a match, while in one end there was a piece of steel, peculiarly bent, which, when removed, would have a tendency to light the match.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Patrons of the theatre here will have the opportunity to see one of the season's most important attractions when the new comedy, "Introduce Me" is presented at the Opera House tonight. This play is by Della Clarke, the successful young playwright and actress whose successes both as writer and player of parts are well known.

Miss Clarke has written in her happy vein in "Introduce Me" a play which is a comedy. But she has also woven in undercurrents of heart interest and romance that go to make a stage picture of grace as well as of effective completeness.

Miss Clarke will be seen in the chief role of Frances Everett. She has rounded herself with a cast of well known actors including such well known actors as Harry W. Pemberton, Clara Kral, Gordon De Maine, A. C. H. Rivers, Josie Morris Sullivan and others.

CY WHITTAKER PLACE

Everyone who enjoyed reading David Copperfield is a treat in store for them if they have not already read "Cy Whittaker's Place." Joseph C. Lincoln's great novel of Cape Cod, and to those who have read the book, there is a still greater treat in store when they see the story in play form. The dramatist has retained all of the atmosphere of the book as well as the many quaint characters prominent in this story. A carefully selected company has been engaged to create the many different and difficult roles while the scenic artists have reproduced the different scenes under the personal supervision of Mr. Lincoln. The play is a masterpiece of a good play. "Cy Whittaker" comes to the Opera House Dec. 1-2. Seats are now on sale.

TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM.

At the Opera House tomorrow afternoon and evening, Messrs. Golden and Edwards will present the old familiar drama, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" with a competent cast and spo-cial scenic investments. Popular prices will prevail for this engagement.

BILLY THE KID.

For Wednesday and Thursday nights and Thanksgiving matinee the attraction at the Opera House will be the popular western drama, "Billy the Kid," replete with stirring episodes and lively comedy scenes. The company is said to be fully up to the requirements of the parts assigned them. Seats for all performances are now on sale.

MAUDE ADAMS.

The interest in the presentation of Roslund's "Chantecler" at the Opera House December 5th is such that at this time it seems a certainty that the poetic fantasy of the barnyard in which Maude Adams is credited with having scored so big a success will attract audiences as big as the theatre can hold. The sale of seats for the engagement opens tomorrow morning and preparations are being made for the handling of a large line of people. The work is one that makes a direct appeal to all lovers of good literature and poetic drama, and its audience is sure to be a brilliant one.

The chief thing about the production of "Chantecler" is that it keeps the poetry of the original work without ever allowing for a moment the interest to flag. The eye is caught by the novelty of the production directly at the start. The four scenes showing the barnyard, night and the breaking dawn on the hills, the kitchen garden where the Guinea Hen's reception and the fight between Chantecler and the Game Cock take place, and the great forest where Chantecler is given his first real music lesson by the Nightingale, are all wonderful to behold.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

There are girls and girls and all are attractive about "The Jungle Girls," who head-line the bill this week at Keith's, presented by Tom Linton and assisted by Grace Langquist, the charming comedienne and singer. "The Jungle Girls" are six in number, dainty singers and dancers with face and form to match and their act is a grand unlike anything ever seen in vaudeville before. Then there are Claude and Fannie Usher in their great comedy conception, "Fagan's Decision." The Ushers are top-notch fixtures in vaudeville and need no extended introduction. Eddie Ross, a bright star in the firmament of minstrelsy, will entertain with his inimitable monologue. The Plectz-Larsen sisters, three in number, are among the world's greatest contortionists and acrobats. Last week we saw the perfection of acrobatic work by the male performers and this week we will see it by the female; and the female of the species is more graceful than the male. Watson and Little are singing comedians of rare merit. The boys will pass one "Terrible Night" at each performance with the assistance of great acrobatic skill and a bounding bed. Clemons and Dean are delightful comedy entertainers while another great act that is entirely apart from the conventional vaudeville act is that of Mlle. Rialto, one of the foremost models of Paris assisted by M. Louis Lavelle. Mlle. Rialto poses in illustration of songs sung by M. Lavelle. The act is most artistic and captivating. Then there will be the usual new first run pictures. Seats are now on sale for Thanksgiving day but must be ordered at the box office. Telephone or mail orders for the holiday will not be received. This applies to the holiday only.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Donald Meek has certainly made a good selection in picking out a play for the holiday week for he offers Denman Thompson's greatest of all rural comedies, "Our New Minister," one of the most popular plays of the day. Some plays only last a season; others don't get that far, while some, like "Our New Minister," will endure as long as the public likes to laugh. It is essentially a character play and the characters are all drawn true to life and are familiar to us in New England as the scenes are laid in the neighboring state of New Hampshire in an imaginary small town called Hardscrabble and well named at that. The characters include a young minister entirely different from anything in the ministerial line that Hardscrabble has ever seen, a couple of crusty deacons, the town trouble-maker, the town constable, a fair young daughter of the town and a young daughter from New York who blows into Hardscrabble looking for excitement which he gets. A funnier combination of characters could not be gotten together in the whole wide world and their troubles keep the audience in roars. One of the funniest characters in the play is Darius Starke, the town constable and a man of valor verbally, a part that will be done to his Majesty's taste by Donald Meek himself. Mr. Chagnon will present the part of the minister and the other members of the company will all be seen to excellent advantage. Today is the chocolate matinee day when each lady attending receives a box of chocolates. "Our New Minister" will be elaborately staged and will be presented under the personal direction of Donald Meek. Next week the company will present "Hello, Bill!"

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The biggest bill of the season, as well as the best, will greet the patrons of the Merrimack Square theatre for Thanksgiving week. Six high class vaudeville acts, the choicest to be secured from a large list, and several comedies will appear in the bill to make up this feature offering. Nothing like this has ever been given on a local stage, price considered. There's not a weak spot in the entire list. If you are looking for the very best don't fail to visit Lowell's most popular playhouse during the coming week. Seats are on sale. Thanksgiving performances are now on

Not Bleached

That creamy-white flour in Gold Medal bags is just as Nature made it.

No chemicals have touched it—

The flour is not bleached.

But that flour, Mrs. Housewife, is just the heart of choice wheat.

It isn't the whole flour—

It's the cream of the flour.

It is sifted ten times, through ten sheets of fine silk, to pick out the daintiest particles.

That's the secret of it.

When you simply say "flour" you are likely to get the cream mixed with the rest.

To get the cream only, say "Gold Medal Flour." It costs you nothing extra.

Then you get the flour which has come to out-sell every other flour in existence.

If you paid $10 a sack for it, no man could supply you a choicer flour than this.

sale and, judging from present indications, it would seem as though the entire theatre would be sold out. If you are anxious to secure the best seats, order right away.

Ed. B. White, former sparring partner of John L. Sullivan, champion pugilist of the world a generation ago and the idol in sporting circles, for many years, will appear in a laughable comedy offering. Mr. White will be assisted by Miss Rolla White, a young woman whose ability to box and punch the bag won her high distinction in that particular line. The pair are excellent entertainers and their act especially good. Don't miss them.

"Mrs. D." is a clever western comedy drama, is the sketch in which the members of Our Stock company will appear. The play is one of the very best in the company's repertoire, and should certainly share well with real successes which Mr. Weston and his associate players have already appeared. The piece marks the return of Miss Beatrice Saxille. Miss Constance Jackson will be pleasingly cast. "Dick's Thanksgiving Dinner," a pleasing short sketch, will be given by Mr. Stanley Wood, the latter having no part in the regular offering of Our Stock company. Mr. Wood is said to be unusually amusing in a monologue, such as this.

Adelaide and Lawrence portray novel singing and dancing characterizations, including their original mythical rhythmic legend, "The Nymph and the Pawn," that is particularly bright and catchy.

The Great Daighan, equilibrist par excellence, and Rogers and Evans, novelty entertainers, will assist in making the bill just what it really is—the best ever. There will also be an excellent series of photo-plays and a number of views of important events, provided to the Merrimack Square theatre exclusively by the American Press association.

STATIONARY ENGINEERS

In spite of the rainy weather, a large number of engineers and their friends gathered at the hall of Lowell, No. 17, N. A. S. E., 67 Market street, on Friday evening and listened to a very interesting and instructive lecture on "Engine Room Practice" by Bro. F. L. Johnson, associate editor of Power of New York, who handled his subject in an unusually interesting manner. The Corliss valve gear was simply explained and several problems worked out on the blackboard that are frequently touched upon and questioned about by the license examiners. No 17 has started on its educational work for the winter and from all indications this year promises to be one of the most profitable and interesting ones in its history.

On next Friday evening, Dec. 1st, Mr. Henry Cave, president of the Anglo-Genius Welding Equipment Co. of Springfield, Mass., will give a demonstration and illustrated lecture on their process of welding. The lecture is free and all engineers, interested mechanics and the public are cordially invited to attend.

MR. I. L. SHOWEM MIXES UP WITH A SUFFRAGETTE MEETING

NOW THE PRIMARIES

Closing Hints to the Voters---Polls Open From 12 M. to 9 P. M.

Women are advised to vote between 1 and 5 o'clock, if possible, as the rush of men during the noon hour and after the closing of the mills will be so great as to be dangerous for the women.

Tomorrow will be the first primary day under the new charter.

Lowell has a registration, male and female, of about 21,500.

The polls open at noon and close at 9 o'clock p. m.

That means that those 21,500 voters have nine hours, no more no less, in which to record their votes.

There are four candidates for mayor; 91 for alderman and 35 for school board.

That means that it will take the individual voter somewhat longer to consider his ballot owing to its unusual size.

The registration is the largest in the history of the city and the ballot is the largest in the city's history.

That means that each voter must go to the polls at his or her earliest opportunity. Don't delay voting for you may not only crowd out some one else but you may get crowded out yourself.

From 12 to 1 o'clock there will be a grand rush of working men or women who must take advantage of the dinner hour to vote. Let them have that hour if you can conveniently vote during the afternoon. From 5 o'clock until 9 the mill people will go in droves to the polls, it being their only opportunity. If you can vote conveniently before that time do so and give the mill people the closing hours. But be sure and vote.

Vote Early

The ladies are advised to vote during the afternoon if possible when the rush of men will not be so great as during the noon hour and in the evening.

The men of Lowell have ever been noted for their gallantry but as a poet once said in describing the signing of the Declaration of Independence, "When a nation's life is at hazard, we've no time to think of men." When the first election under a new charter is at stake they may forget their gallantry. Therefore take no chances, ladies, vote early and vote only for five, and that means five, all told; five men and one woman won't go. Five regardless of sex and no more.

The Counting

The ballot will be a rather cumbersome one to count owing to the many folds but it doesn't appear to be at all complicated. The regular ballot is in four folds or pages. The first or the extreme left contains the title, instructions and the names of the candidates for mayor. Vote for one for mayor and only one. Don't bother your head about the number to be nominated; just consider the number to be voted for, one candidate for mayor.

The second fold starts off with the first name on the aldermanic list and includes 40 names. The third fold includes the remaining 45 names for alderman, while the fourth fold or page, on the extreme right, includes the 35 names of school board candidates.

Vote for four aldermen. Remember that the instructions "vote for four" on the aldermanic ballot means four out of the entire 91, not vote for four out of the first 46 or the second 45 but four out of the entire number on both pages. On the question of school board you may vote for five only and no more.

The special ballot for female voters is simple enough. It is a two-fold ballot with the names all in one row on the right side of the ballot.

A Tremendous Vote

All indications point to a tremendous vote at the primaries. The idea is new and the entire public is interested in the experiment. The registration of women is greater than ever before, which means that the interest is greater, and that leads to the assumption that the interest will again manifest itself at the polls. In years to come there may not be as many candidates or as many ballots cast, but this year everybody is going to vote and therefore govern yourself accordingly about going to the polls. If it has been your custom to have a conveyance call after you to take you to the polls, don't depend on conveyances this time.

The Caucus Returns

Don't imagine for a moment that you will know the results at 11 o'clock tomorrow night. You will not get them until the following day. The Sun will print the complete returns and will go to press as soon as they are in. There is a great deal of conjecture as to how long it will take to count. With such a multiplicity of candidates the exact results will not be known until the last tally sheet has been received at city hall and the stickest prognosticator cannot forecast any result even with a majority of the precincts in. Some of the candidates are not generally known throughout the city and will be found to be strong in certain localities and weak in others and hence the uncertainty as to results.

Recruits? Perish the thought! Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. Don't interfere with the Thanksgiving spirit and appetites of the registrars by suggesting such a thing.

Little Caucus Betting

This contest has all the election bettors at sea. It is all a guess, being new. There is some small betting as to results and friendly pools are being made on states. There is much guess as to how many votes will be necessary for one of the first eight to make him one of the first eight. The guessers figure it all the way from 1500 to 3500. Until Wednesday one man's opinion will be as good as another's.

Closing of Campaign

The candidates were all very busy over Saturday night and Sunday. Some had recourse to rallies; others to newspaper advertising and some to personal canvassing. Others had good loyal friends working hard for them among their friends.

There will be no more rallies tonight and then all will be over except for voting. Announcements of tonight's rallies appear in displayed advertisements in this paper. The social and fraternal clubs were visited by many of the candidates yesterday, while they also were to be seen about the hotels and in other places where men congregate, including the churches.

Candidates at Funeral

The members of the present school board are candidates for re-election and aside from the political strife, yesterday afternoon to do honor to the memory of the late Frank B. Sherburne, the members of the board attending the funeral in a body.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Brockton Man Killed Himself and Woman Who Repulsed Him

BROCKTON, Nov. 27.—Few men in this city were better known than Chas. F. Lander, who killed Mrs. Ida Bates at last Weymouth Saturday night and then ended his own life.

Prominent a few years ago as a professional wrestler, he became well known in sporting circles in this vicinity. Later, as organizer of the Auburn street league club, he became the route champion of Campello and one of the best players in the city.

He was identified with several fraternal organizations. As manager of the company shoe factory he was thrown into contact with thousands of men and women.

Mrs. Lander, a motherly woman with gray hair, sobbed bitterly when questioned yesterday at her home, 112 Auburn street, relative to her husband's terrible deed.

Standing beside her were her two beautiful daughters, Lillian, aged 16, and Eleanor, aged 13, both trying to comfort her. Grouped in a rear room were other relatives of Mrs. Lander, who cautioned her against saying anything too much.

Kissed Family Goodby

Lander, according to his wife, left his home Saturday morning as usual, kissing her goodby, as was his custom. "He also kissed the two girls," said Mrs. Lander. "Although he frequently kissed his children when he left the house, I noticed that he put himself out yesterday, sending for Lillian, who was not in the house at the time. I didn't think much about it at the time, however."

"When my husband left me he said he would not be home early, as he expected to attend a lodge supper. He gave me to understand that it would be late when he returned, so when he did not appear at bedtime I thought nothing of it."

Mrs. Lander first heard of the crime Saturday forenoon, when her brother, John Gillis of Torrey street, informed her of it, having read the account in a morning paper.

Say He Was Infatuated

According to friends of Lander, he was infatuated with Mrs. Bates. The latter, it is stated, came here about three years ago from Lynn, securing employment in the vamping room at the George E. Keith company factories. It was here, Lander's friends allege, that Lander first became acquainted with her. They were often seen together on the streets, creating considerable talk.

Mrs. Lander said yesterday she had heard of Mrs. Bates and had been told of the relations between her and Mr. Lander. Mrs. Bates, it is believed, left here about five weeks ago for East Weymouth in an effort to escape the attentions of Lander. The latter, it is believed, learned where Mrs. Bates was living and went there Saturday, seeking a reconciliation, which was refused.

FIRE BROKE OUT IN A BARBER SHOP

KILLED HERSELF

DAUGHTER OF DUBLIN CLERGYMAN ENDED HER LIFE

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Alice Tristram, 38, said to be the daughter of a prominent clergyman in Dublin, Ireland, committed suicide in the golf club house at Van Cortlandt park yesterday by drinking poison while sitting alone at a table. She told acquaintances that her father was Canon Tristram of Trinity church, Dublin, and that she was married to a wealthy mineral water manufacturer named Shanks.

The Dublin city directory contains the name of the Rev. John William Tristram, D. D., secretary of the board of education, and of J. & C. Shanks, Ltd., mineral water manufacturers.

The woman's principal reason for leaving home, according to her story, was because her father had married a second time. Miss Tristram had a cultivated voice and had sung here on several occasions at musicals and dinners. She had been unsuccessful, however, in her efforts to obtain pupils, and it is believed by some who knew her that she was pressed for funds.

ORGANIZED LABOR

Has Declared War on a Chinese Restaurant

BROCKTON, Nov. 27.—Organized labor in Brockton has declared an open war on a Chinese restaurant that started on Main street about two months ago, and owing to certain legal phases that have presented themselves in the last few days the question has a far-reaching effect on the mayoralty contest, according to the political weather sharps. The unions refuse to allow the Chinese waiters to join their organizations; they assert the Chinese must shut up shop in Brockton. On the other hand, the proprietors of the restaurant defy the labor leaders and declare they will fight to the end.

The first open breach came three weeks ago when certain city officials refused to attend a dinner at the restaurant in question. Later the Central Labor union passed resolutions branding the place as "unfair to labor." Then circulars were distributed warning wage earners not to patronize the restaurant. Union agents posted themselves near the entrance and soon complaint was made to Mayor Henry C. Howard on the ground that a city ordinance was being violated.

Now it is claimed the mayor first refused to grant the unions a permit to distribute circulars and then failed to enforce the ordinance prohibiting the distribution.

The proprietor of the Chinese restaurant has appealed to Mayor Howard and other officials for protection, but he claims he isn't getting it. He asserts, however, that business hasn't fallen off to any marked degree.

AN EXCITING TIME

Wild West "Shooting Up" in a Camp

MANCHESTER, Nov. 27.—The usual Sunday calm of Manchester was disturbed yesterday by a fracas that savored of a Wild West "shooting up."

The disturbance originated in an Italian camp where about 100 men, employed in laying telephone conduits are living in the outskirts of the town.

Two men, according to the police, were washing clothes in a brook when one named Michael Bergomotto, about 22 years old, known locally as "Jumbo," fell upon his companion named

Onward!

That is Lowell's new watchword brought about by the adoption of the new charter in Tuesday's election.

Onward is the synonym for progress and progress means prosperity and happiness.

The new charter points the way to progress, prosperity and happiness.

All must inevitably follow the new idea and how soon they follow depends on the voters of Lowell themselves in the selection of the men to fill the offices under the new order of things.

Long ago a wise man said: "A government can be no better than the people make it. The people have spoken emphatically for good government in the future. Now it is up to the people to complete their great reform movement by selecting men with intelligent discrimination to transact the affairs of the city under the new charter, or form of government.—Lowell Sun, Nov. 9.

The above motto may be applied with truth to the career of James E. O'Donnell, candidate for mayor. Mr. O'Donnell has moved steadily onward since becoming old enough to earn his living, without mistake as to his avocation, or without failure in either his business or professional ventures. Mr. O'Donnell has been eminently successful in all things and his success has been self-made. He will make a successful mayor for he will apply the same honesty of purpose, perseverance, intelligence, fearlessness of conviction and progressiveness to the administration of the city's affairs that he has and does apply to his own.
